Dedication

Harvey Edgar Harsh, son of William Franklin & Emma (Hockenberger) Harsh was born 30 July 1902 in Paris Township, Stark County Ohio. He graduated from Minerva High School in 1921, from Heidelberg College in 1925 and from Central Theological Seminary in 1929. He was ordained into the Christian Ministry in the old German Reformed Church, now United Church of Christ. He served churches in Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana.

On 20 August, 1927 he was united in marriage with Mary Ellen Wetzel, daughter of Oliver and Lillie May (Yundt) Wetzel. They have a daughter, Catharine Cassady, and a son, Merwyn D. Harsh as well as four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Rev. Harsh became interested in researching the Harsh Family History many years ago. His eager enthusiasm for genealogy remained with him all his life and provided the great majority of the information in this book. Patiently and persistently, he hunted through records, wrote letters, made telephone calls. His intense interest inspired others to search family records and add to the sum of knowledge about the family. He and his wife, Mary, made many trips to Ohio and Pennsylvania searching all available Court House, Cemetery, and Church records for any information pertaining to the family.

To help further his knowledge of Genealogical Research he joined the newly organized Society, Palatines to America. As the membership increased he was asked to organize a chapter in Indiana in April 1977 and a Pennsylvania chapter in October 1977. He served as Vice-President of Palatines to America for two years and as President two years. His term of office ended in June 1981 and he died 3 August 1981.

He was interested in genealogy to the very end of his life. It was his dream to complete and publish the Harsh Family History, begun by James R. Harsch of Toledo Ohio and Robinson Harold Harsh of Maryland, but he never succeeded in this accomplishment. To Rev. Harvey Harsh, with deep gratitude for all he brought to this history, we dedicate this book.

PREFACE

My own first contact with Harvey Harsh was as a new resident of Detroit Michigan. The first issue of the telephone book listing Robert C. Harsh was followed closely by a call from him with a greeting something like - "Hello, I'm Harvey Harsh and probably a relation of yours. Can you tell me anything about your own family?" After only a few facts about my father and grandfather he quickly placed me and told me that he had been in touch with both of them in prior years.

As years passed we began to acquire some interest in the family and have taken up the task of putting the facts as Harvey and many others had collected them. We can take no credit for the work and have recently begun to see why the publication of this work took so long. There are always a few more facts just over the next hill waiting to be discovered and added. We have finally had to say "enough" and publish what we have. We take full blame for our own errors of transcription. It is our hope that they will be few enough that future family members can build without too much trouble.

The form of this work follows the outline and identifying system set up by Harvey, James and Robinson many years ago. To those who wonder why the immigrant children are identified as B, C, E, F & G rather than starting with "A" we can only say that early work included others whom we now believe to be relatives of unknown degree, but not siblings. Juliana Veronica mentions only these children in her Will and we assume that she should know which belonged to her!! In each family, the children are listed in order of age as far as we know. Thus, the oldest child is #1 etc. Each generation then carries the number of his direct ancestor with his own number added. Where a child has married and is listed in a later family, his earliest listing has a + mark at the end of the line.

We have tried to include all essential information as far as is known to us and have included:

1)Full name and nickname if any
2)Name of spouse and date and place of marriage
3)Name of parents of spouse including maternal family name
4)Date & place of birth, death, baptism, marriage, & burial
5)Occupation and other items of interest if known.

When dates are in question or incomplete, or information from various sources conflicts, a (?) is inserted in the appropriate place. We have tried to flesh out the Bare Bones of the Begats and present whatever interesting information we have received. May each reader discover new facts to add to his family tree, as well as a new understanding of his ancestors

In short, we have tried to be interesting as well as factual. We hope we have succeeded.

In the German Archives the Harsh family is listed thus:

Hans Heinrich Hirsch Died before 1740
Ehefrau Juliana Veronica __ (maiden name not given)
Simon
Ludwig
Johan Heinrich
Catharina

The Westrich is an area in the Rhenish Palatinate (see map) between Saarbrucken and Kaiserslautern centered in present day Zweibrücken. The location of "Neubrit" has so far escaped our search. The Westrich was an hereditary principality belonging to the Palatine Elector. The Rhineland Palatinate, rich in minerals and farm products, has been a battlefield for centuries. The Thirty Year War (1618-1648) reduced the population from about 500,000 to 50,000. Since the Elector of the Palatines was a Protestant, except when matrimony or politics dictated otherwise, he had encouraged Swiss farmers to migrate to this fertile region There are some family legends linking our Hirsch family to such an origin. It is known that several families with similar names lived in the Bavarian Palatinate in early times and one such was well known as the "Kocherthal" of early American immigration.

About 1675, Louis XIV of France began a purge of heretics. The Protestant Palatinate was one area that was over-run by the French. It was economically feasible to try to occupy this fertile area, and the religious zealots were willing and eager to assist!! Villages, towns and farms were pillaged and burned. The people were tortured, raped and slain. Heidelberg and Mannheim were burned in 1689. The waves of occupying troops continued, leaving the farmers with little or nothing. They were required to pay tribute (tax) to their Elector, the amount fixed by the Elector and the German Emperor, and not based on their actual means. Since the Empire was involved in a series of wars, the prescribed tribute escalated annually. The farmer did not own his land, but held it for his Elector. He could not move, migrate or change his vocation without a permit from his ruler. This, then, is the situation when the Hirsch family left their home.

The legend is told that the Elector (then Catholic) was allowing Protestant families to be murdered. When a friend told Hans Heinrich they were next on the list, he and his family took what they could carry and set out on foot after dark. One son looked back and said, "Father, we have left the candle burning." The man replied, "So let it burn, while we seek salvation for body and soul."

The family walked, probably to the Rhine River, and eventually arrived in Rotterdam, where they embarked for America. Ships in 1740 were sailing vessels, less than 100 tons, and were filled to capacity for each voyage. The passage took from 4 to 6 months, and usually each ship made only one trip per year. The passenger signed an agreement in which the fare was stipulated. If paid in advance, it was appreciably less than the amount required to redeem him in America. These 'Redemptioners' were bound for a period of 5 to 8 years, and, at the end of that service, were promised a 'freedom suit' and a small sum of money. If he had renounced his previous ruler, pledged loyalty to the British crown, and taken communion, he could receive 50 acres from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It is probable that our Hirsch family were among these Redemptioners.

The family landed in Philadelphia September 27, 1740 on the ship "Lydia", James Allen, Capt. Males 18 years and older were required to take an oath of allegiance to the British crown, and Simon Hirsch is found in this list. The record of service for passage has not yet been found.

In her will, dated 14/JA/1775 and proved 12/JN/1775, Juliana Veronica, who is called Eunophronough Groover, (a corruption of Ulifronica, no doubt), recites the devise to her by her husband's Will of the 1/3 part of his moveable estate and the grant of letters testamentary to Jacob Bidleman and Nicholas Groover of Nockamixon, and directs her executors to proceed to collect from them her legacy under the Will of her husband, and all right of dower as his widow, all of which she devises to her son-in-law, Herman Shuman of Tinicum, he to pay out the following: "My son Simon Harrs, My son Ludowick, my son Henry, and my daughter Catherine Massomer. " Her trusty friend, Ludwig Lang of Tinicum is named executor. It appears that her daughter had been provided for by her husband's will and thus was not mentioned in this instrument.

Will of Henry Hersh (B.2)

Copy from Probate Court Records Carrollton, Carroll Co OH Book A pp 278 to 281 Probated 25/FE/1839

Be it remembered that heretofore, to-wit, at a Court of Common Pleas began and held at the Court House in Carrollton, within and for the County of Carroll and State of Ohio, on Monday, the 25th of February, AD 1839, before the Hon. Georg. W Belden, President, Robert George Reynolds, and Robert McEldeny, Esqs., Associate Judge of said Court, within and for said County of Carroll.

The last will and testament of Henry Hersh dec'd was brought into the said Court, the two subscribing witnesses thereto, being sworn, say that they saw the testator sign said will, that they signed said will as witnesses, in the presence, and at the request of the Testator,- that the Testator when he signed said will, was of sound mind and memory, of full age, and under no restraint - Thereupon the same was approved, and ordered to be recorded with the proof taken - Which will, is in the words and figures following to-wit:

Know all Men by These Presents, that I, Henry Hersh, now of the Township of Washington, County of Carroll, and State of Ohio, knowing the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death, and being of sound mind and memory, do make, constitute and ratify, this as my last Will and Testament, hereby revoking and disannulling any and every will or testament, by me heretofore made either written or spoken.

First- I give and bequeath to my beloved wife, Margaret Hersh, the farm on which I now live containing One Hundred Acres be the same more or less, bounded on the north by land of John Ebersole, on the south by land of George Abrahims, on the west by lands of George Hewit, and on the east by lands of Rebecca Crawford, together with any and every the buildings and the appurtenances thereunto belonging, to and for the sole use and support of her the said Margaret Hersh, my wife, during her natural lifetime, but not to be by her either incumbered or sold.

And whereas, there is due to me, the said Henry Hersh at the writing of this Will, Notes and obligations on individuals to the amount of One thousand dollars; it is my will that all the interest that may accrue, on the unexpended balance of said thousand dollars (if any part of said sum of one thousand dollars shall remain unexpended at my decease) shall be paid annually by my executors to my said wife Margaret Hersh for her own use and behoof; but should said interest be insufficient to support my said wife after my decease, together with the bequeath first specified, then and in that case it is further my will, that so much of the principle together with the aforesaid interest shall be annually applied by my executors, for her support as they may deem prudently necessary.

Will of Henry Harsh B.2 Cont'd

Second - It is my will, that such portion of my personal estate, not heretofore named, as shall be necessary to pay any and every just claims that shall remain unpaid at my decease, together with my funeral expenses, and costs of Executorship, shall be sold by my executors at such time after my decease, as they may think proper and the balance of my personal estate, after selling so much as shall pay said claims, shall belong to my said wife Margaret Hersh, to and for her own use and behoof and at her own disposal in any way.

Third - It is my will, that after the decease of my wife Margaret Hersh, the land first mentioned in this my will, containing one hundred acres, be the same more or less, being a part of the South West quarter of Section twentynine, Township fourteen, range five in the Steubenville District, shall be sold by my executors at such time as to them may be thought best within two years after her decease, and all the proceeds arising form the sale of said land, after defraying any and every legal expense, shall be equally divided among my children of the first wife, Magdalena Hersh, viz.- Dorothy, Mary, Simon, Jacob, Elizabeth, Barbara, Sarah, Henry, Molly, Solomon, Frana, and Catharine or to their heirs or legal representatives, share and share alike.

Fourth - It is my will, that any and every the balance of the said One thousand dollars mentioned in my first bequeath, that shall remain unexpended after the decease of my said wife Margaret Hersh, shall after her decease be collected by my executors as soon as practicable, and be by them equally divided among the children of my second wife, Margaret Hersh, to-wit; John, Esther, Peter, Margaret, and Anne, or their heirs or legal representatives, share and share alike.

Fifth - I do hereby constitute and appoint my true and trusty friends Solomon Hersh, my son, and George Hewit, sole executors of this my last Will and Testament.

In testimony that this is my last Will and Testament, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal this Eighth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight (AD 1838)

After the division as above named is completed and complied with, the balance of all the proceeds of my entire estate must be divided equally amongst my following children and their heirs, my son Andrew, my son John's heirs, my daughter Rebecca and my daughter Mary and my son Daniel.

I do hereby nominate and appoint Lazarus Lewis and Samuel Affer executors of this my last will and testament, hereby authorizing and empowering them to compromise, adjust, release and discharge in such a manner as to them may seem proper the debts due me, and after my death they are to act in good faith as in the foregoing will set forth. B.2-10-2 John Harsch died a young man, 29 yrs, through the accident of a tree he was chopping down in the woods (the last log for the new family home at DeKalb, IL) falling on him. This was a second marriage for his wife Elizabeth (Betsy), her first having been to one Abraham Burton from which union there was one child, Abraham.

Elizabeth Ann Bowers Harsch, wife of Solomon, says that Betsy, above, her mother-in-law, often told her of what a devout Christian her husband was; of how he was accustomed to go off in the woods alone to pray, and of how he believed in and practiced religious fasting, and sought to have her do the same, but that because of the necessities of nourishing her babies and her household duties, she could not conform as fully as her husband wished; she was too hungry. Also says that her mother-in-law was herself a devout Christian also, and unusually gifted in prayer; that after the death of John, the husband, she, Betsy, and the four orphan children were provided for for some time by Joshua, a first cousin of the dead husband, who built for them, or let them have the use of a modest home on his own premises. (Betsy and Joshua's wife Sarah were sisters.) From this home Betsy married a third time, a Mr. Sherck, who then took the family to his home south of Flatrock OH where the children grew up. The boy, Solomon, however, left home at a very early age to begin the struggle with the world as a clerk in a country store, sleeping under the counter it is said, etc. Betsy's marriage to Abraham Sherck was a second marriage for him. He had a son, John Wesley, from this marriage, who died at age 21, but married prior- and a child born after the father's death was named John Wesley also.

Mr. Harsh's removal to DeKalb Co Indiana was about the year 1847 and was from Carroll Co OH He died at DeKalb Co IN about 1848 and was buried at the county seat, Auburn.

Mrs. Harsh died at Bellvue, OH in the home of her son Solomon about 1878 and was buried in the church cemetery at Flat Rock OH {x}

Excerpts from "The Smith Family"
by Charles David SMITH, assisted by Jeanette Penrod HELTZEL, Ruth Smith HILEMAN, and Magdalena Smith McENDERFER

"In 1842, Michael Smith and son Lewis joined a band of settlers headed for Akron, Indiana. Michael built a log house 1 1/2 mile East of Gilead in Miami County, 1 mile South of the Fulton county line. He entered the first government farm in Miami county and walked the 100 miles to Indianapolis to get the title deeds to the place....

"Father and son were charter members of Emmanuel Church which had been established by German missionaries, who built a log building. In 1852 it was replaced by a frame building heated by two stoves, one on either side of the church.

"Settlers could claim free land not only for themselves but for their children as well. Mary Abigail Harsh's section adjoined Lewis Smith's and so they got married in 1848 when she was 16 and he was 24...

"Mary Abigail was a thin, wiry woman, rather intense, a born leader, and she got a lot done. It was said that she could do the work of three other women. She was Superintendent of Emmanuel Church. On a Sunday morning, sometimes Lewis would saddle a horse and they would ride down together, but more often Abigail would drive a horse and wagon on ahead down through the woods, which was safe enough because the Indians were friendly. In cold weather she needed to get there early to build the fires before the members of the congregation arrived. Then Lewis would take his gun and walk to church, hoping to pick up some wild game on the way. He was not an ardent church-goer but he had his own favorite seat, down by the pulpit. Though not talkative in company, he was reputed to be 'good in testimony' in church...

"Lewis and Abigail were the parents of 10 children, 7 of whom grew to adulthood. It was their practice to lend the homestead to each of their children following their coming of age. With the profits, each could acquire a farm of his own. And so, radiating out in a semi-circle from the homestead at a distance of one to two miles were the farms of Nancy Elizabeth Smith HOFFMAN, Jacob, Samuel & William. Mary married a well-to-do farmer. Franklin decided to leave the soil. Charles, the youngest, had toyed with the idea of working as a conductor on the Erie RR, but his father made him an offer he couldn't refuse, the inheritance of the home place."

Information gathered by Mrs G E HARRINGTON of 307 Adkins Dr
W Columbia, SC 29169

Mrs Harrington is half-sister to the children of Charles Sylvester & Cora Stokey Harsh; that is, a child of Cora and her second husband. Mrs Harrington had met all 6 children, knew most of their children, and began to search for the truth when she heard Lester's story. Lester said that his Mother gave them to a railroader to find homes for them. Lester was old enough to remember the trip in a box-car from Kent to Galion. Lester was still bitter toward his mother some 20 years later. Cora's sister confirmed Lester's story, stating that she had wanted to keep Gertrude to raise with her own daughter, but Cora would have no part of it. Apparently Cora did not try to follow up on her children, but put them in the hands of Providence.

PRISONER HANGS SELF IN JAIL

"While his wife was waiting in the office of the Prosecutor Beckley, Charles Harsh hung himself in the County jail Wednesday morning and was found dead. The body was suspended from the lintel of the water-closet doorway by means of a wire, wrenched from the trap and spliced from three pieces. Prosecutor Beckley had entered the corridor with the Sheriff Goodenough about 9:40 that morning for the purpose of securing the signature of the prisoner to a paper which would have surrendered the custody of his six children to his wife, Mrs. Cora Harsh, who had sued him for divorce on Tuesday in the Portage Common Pleas. Harsh was the only prisoner in the jail and when the two officials entered the corridor the prisoner was nowhere to be seen. The Prosecutor thereupon started to go one way around the cells and the Sheriff the other. When the former turned at the South end of the corridor he discovered the body of Harsh hanging by the neck, limp and in a stooping position with his feet on the floor. Coroner Waggoner was summoned and on feeling of the victim's pulse pronounced him dead.

"He has been cold in death for two hours or more" he said. The suicide was deliberate and determined. Had the victim simply straightened himself he could easily avoided death, which came from the horrible process of slow strangulation. Harsh was jailed about three weeks ago on a peace warrant sworn out by his wife, who later commenced divorce proceedings. On the morning of the suicide she filed further complaint in Justice E. W. Maxson's court charging her husband with assault and battery. The prisoner arose about 6 o'clock on the morning of the tragedy and a half hour later ate his breakfast which was carried to him by an attendant. He appeared all right at that time. He had been visited by his brother David Harsh, of Marlboro during his imprisonment and on his person was found a letter written by his brother, April 22, explaining surprise at his arrest and imprisonment, asking the cause and stating his inability to come here at that time. The letter concluded by a request that the prisoner tell him what he wished to do in his behalf.

"Harsh was born in Hartville, Stark county, 45 years ago, son of John Harsh. His parents are both deceased. The parties were married in Ravenna nineteen years ago. (a misprint--correctly, nine years) She is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. C. J. Stokey of Kent with whom she is living at present. At the time of the arrest they were living at Fritch's Lake, Suffield. She says he was all right when not under the influence of liquor, but that drink made a demon of him and that he was under heavy influence of intoxicants most of the time. "He got so he could not eat without whiskey", she said. "I am glad he is dead," she added, "for he was a curse to himself and to his family. I am left with six small children, the oldest of them nine years, but it is better this way than to live in the conditions he made for me." SHe is a pleasant faced little woman with a look of patient endurance, but withal one of resolute determination when goaded to the extremity of endurance. Her youngest child is a bright, handsome baby girl who cooed and smiled in her arms during the hour of the tragedy that had made her fatherless. Harsh has three brothers, David of Marlboro, John of Indiana (*) and Will of Kansas. A sister, Mrs. Rorabaugh, lives in Limaville.

"The prisoner left a letter which reads as follows: "I love my children too much to live without them, I cannot live away from them, I thought I would end, take my life. God has forgiven me and I am going to meet them in Heaven. I am not guilty of this charge. I want you to phone my brother and tell him I want to be buried beside my mother."

James Roland Harsch worked as an Accountant & Auditor for the Telluride Power Co., first at Telluride CO, then at Provo UT. In 1902, when the company, which pioneered the practical commercial application of high voltage electrical transmission, was commissioned to design the Ontario hydroelectric plant at Niagara Falls NY, Mr. Harsch moved there for several years, later returning to Provo and then Telluride. When the company was sold in 1911, he worked for the Sevier River Land & Water Co. at Salt Lake City until 1918 when he returned to Ohio, and lived in Toledo the remainder of his life. He was the Chief of the Estate & Gift Tax Section of the IRS in Toledo for many years. He contributed much of the information in this B.2-10 section.

Or was it John who had been sent from Washington Co PA in 1812 to purchase land and was already in Ohio?

Dear Sir:

I have just had an interview with Col. Crook. He says that the Court of Pensions is in error-the date of the family record is 1763 instead of 1765, and that a close inspection of it will show the fact so to be. Besides, Mrs. Hansel has always spoken of being born in '63 and married in '78.

Letter to Samuel(B.5-1-1) & Mary Stukey

To Samuel and Mary Stukey
Mailed at Amanda, 12 1/2 cents postage

Fairfield County, State of Ohio
February the 27th 1844

Dear and affectioned and most beloved brother and sister:

Since this is but few weeks that I have heard from you by letter with the most pleasing sensation that you were all well at that time, I must inform you that we are all well at this time and thank God for the dispensation of his divine providence towards us and hoping through the mercy of God these few lines may find you in the same state of blessedness.

I must inform you that Peter Nigh through the dispensation of providence was removed from the state of action on the 17th of February and was interred on the 18th. His sickness was the winter fever and his old complaint the consumption. He bore his pains with the patience of a Job and resigned his spirit into the arms of his Redeemer God. He occupied the bed of affliction only four days. He died in the triumph of living faith. He was visited by a minister of the Gospel and expressed words in the following "Had it pleased God I should like to stay a little longer with my family but if it is His will I am not afraid to die."

I must inform you that Michael Peters was sick with the winter fever but he is on the mend and that grandfather Peters is very low at this time. He is not expected to survive many days and grandmother Peters is bedfast these ten weeks and sometimes very low. She is somewhat better now and all the rest of my brothers and sisters are all well at this time as far as I know.

I must further inform you what good luck I had. I found a good thing as Solomon the wise man said and guess what it is. If you can't guess it, guess again and if you can't guess it the second time, guess the third time and if you can't guess it I will tell you. It is a wife. My bosom companion is Maria Lapes and now Peters and daughter of John Lapes. We were joined in matrimony the 22nd of this month by Jeremiah Moore.

George Peters
Maria Peters

To Samuel Stukey
Mary Stukey (Amanda P. O.)

Again, well Samuel, Abraham Peters is single yet but I don't know how long he will remain single. He is running the track very often. Abraham received your letter on the 18th of this month. Dear Samuel: As I write this evening my pen was bad and my hand is stiff from husking corn. I wish to be excused for so bad a handwriting. No more at present but still remain your friend until death.

G. P.
M. P. to S. S. and M. S.

Letter from Daniel Harsh(B.5-2) to Samuel H Stuckey(B.5-1-1)

Good Hope, Noble County, Indiana
January 28, 1845

Dear Nephew:

I hereby inform you that your letter of the 7th inst. came duly to hand. I received it the 25th and was much pleased to hear from you and particularly so when I was thereby informed that you all enjoyed the blessings of health. As to myself and family we are all well at this time and have enjoyed good health all last summer and fall. Uncle Daniel Hoak is quite poorly about like he was when your father was here. All the rest of them are well. Our country was blessed with health all last summer and fall with the exception of some families on the river. There were but few deaths but since the winter commenced there were a good many deaths in some parts of the country and they died mostly of what the doctors call erysipelas, a complaint something similar to wild fire which if it comes on the head or neck of a person often proves fatal. I would also inform you that about 8 days ago I had a letter from brother Samuel(B.5-3). They were all well. He stated that it was very sickly there last fall but that they were all well at that time. He also states that his second daughter Belinda(B.5-3-4) was married to Emanuel Beery. You want to know the reason why your brother Daniel(B.5-1-6) moved away from here which I do not know how to answer. He gave no reason to me only that his father-in-law was going to move to New Boston, Mercer County Illinois and he wanted to go with him and he sold all he had here except his forty acres of land and started but where he stopped I do not know for I have not heard from him since but I expect a letter from him shortly. But since he was gone I was informed that he could not pay for his goods he bought here and gave a mortgage on his land and I suppose he thought he would never be able to redeem it and did not choose to stay here after he had lost his land. It is my opinion if he had a prudent housekeeper he would have got along well. I will now tell you about the season. After your father left here the season continued about the same as with you according to your statement. The winter here is quite moderate. We had only one light snow about three inches deep which fell some time before Christmas. Since that time the weather was very pleasant but rather much rain. On New Year it was so warm that we could go without a coat. Our wheat and corn crops are none of the best, I suppose about two thirds what we raised other years to the acre. But oats and potatoes were about as usual. I will now give you the prices of produce, wheat $.56, corn $.37 1/2, oats $.31 1/4, potatoes 20 to 25 cents, pork $3.50 per cwt., butter 12 1/2 cents a pound, eggs 6 cts a dozen, beef from $2.00 to $2.50 per cwt., I suppose that your country will outgo ours in the way of improvements on account of the canal. We are doing a little here, too. I suppose by next April or May we will have a furnace and forge in operation about two miles from where I live and Ligonier is beginning to improve. There is now a good store in it and another expected again spring so that we can sell our produce at home either for cash or anything we need. I will soon have to close and would only mention that I would be glad to see you all but cannot come to you now but am still in hopes that if God spares my life and health that I will be in with you some time between this and next January in 1846. And I would further say that since your brother Daniel is gone from here that should not keep any of you from coming to see us for I would be as much pleased to see any of you as though he lived here still. I have not heard from Enos since your father was here. Nothing more at this time but our best respects to you all. And may God bestow his blessings upon you all is the wish of your true and affectionate friend.

To Samuel H. Stukey
Lima, Allen County, Ohio
12 cents paid on this letter.

Good Hope, Indiana, March 16, 1847

Dear Nephew:

Enclosed you will find a note of hand signed by Cyrus Hoak and William Hoak $4.25 payable to D. H. Stukey which note I wish you to collect as soon as possible without favor or affection. The note, you will see, was given more than five years ago and I am fully convinced that neither of them will pay the note unless compelled to do so by law. I had left the said note with a justice of peace in order to have it collected off William Hoak, Cyrus being in Ohio, but he slipped off between two days and escaped into Kosiucko County about forty miles from here and he has but little property. I then told James Hoak and several others to tell Cyrus when he came for his money to inform him that I had the note and wanted him to pay it which they did but Cyrus put off in a hurry and took all his money with him without letting me know that he was here. I therefore thought the sooner he was pushed the better. I therefore request you to immediately after receiving this letter to proceed to collect it and if you ask him for the money before you sue and he doth not pay I want you to sue him before you go home. Please attend to this matter without delay and I am the more for your brother Dan. I have a full power of attorney to transact all business for him.

I will now inform you that we are all well and hope you may all likewise enjoy the blessing of health. I will inform you that last fall we had more sickness here than we had in all the time since I live in this country and what made it appear much worse was that there were so many newcomers who were not accustomed to the climate and although there were many sick but few died. The sickness extended through the whole western country as far as I could hear. I had a letter from your brother Daniel and he informs me that they were all sick but had all recovered at the date of his letter Oct.28, 1846. I will now inform you that we had a long winter or rather have a long one. The months of December and January were rather open and much rain about New Year. We had the most rain I ever saw in this country. The water was very high. The Elkhart River was about six inches higher than was ever known before but did no injury with the exception of tearing holes through some mill races and dams. The waters here never flood the land. About the middle of February it commenced snowing and continued every few days snowing till in a few days the snow was about eight inches deep and first rate sleighing until the sixth or seventh of March. Tha snow then melted away all to about three inches which lies on the ground as hard as ice. All last week was pleasant enough but not warm enough for sugar weather. These three days we have had cold and a little snow. I cannot tell you how our grain in the ground is for it cannot be seen. The fields are all covered with snow. The spring this season is very backward, more so than I have seen these ten years with the exception of that four years ago. I will now tell you the price of produce here in Ligonier. Wheat 50 cents per bushel, corn 20 to 25 cents, oats 20 cents, potatoes 25 cents, pork fresh $2.00 per cwt., salt or smoked $4.00 to $6.00, butter 12 1/2 cents per lb., eggs 6 cents per dozen, ashes 6 cents a bushel, salt $2.50 per barrel, iron 6 cents per lb. by the small, 5 cents by the cwt. Our iron works are doing fine. The two hammers are going almost all the time day and night. They have made 2 tons in 24 hours. The iron is of the best quality in the United States, so called by the blacksmiths and they are about commencing a furnace which is to be in operation by the first of June next. James Hoak is nearly all the time working at the iron works and is doing tolerably well. Bill Hoak as I told you is gone to Koscusco County where he bought a bit of land but it is a little doubtful whether he will ever pay for it. And he is doing about as usual. Sometimes he has something to eat and sometimes not and the same as regards to clothing. The children are always bad off for clothing. Our country is rapidly improving. A great many people have moved into our township within the last year and there are some coming every few weeks. Land begins to sell high in the west end of Noble County. Our school section was sold a year ago for $1000. William bought 80 acres for $3.00, the best in the section. Land a distance from the forge, say from 6 to 10 miles, sells as low. There are first rate quarters can be bought for $400. I also tell you that I received a letter from brother John a few weeks ago. They are all well. I can think of nothing more and have perhaps written more than you care about reading but I do not want to send so much blank paper. I will close by requesting you to write again as soon as you have arranged the matter about the note against Cyrus Hoak. And I think if you be fortunate enough to get the money it would be perfectly safe to send it in a letter. The safest way is to just enclose it and direct the letter to me at Good Hope, Noble County, Indiana and drop the letter in the office without letting any person know that there is money in it. Nothing more at present but my best respects to all our friends.

Daniel Harsh

To Samuel H. Stukey
N.B. If you write please write about all your brothers and sisters and their wives and husbands how they are and where they live. After counting the interest on the note within mentioned I find it amounts to more than $5.00. Please do not send in more than five dollars, and that in one bill. Keep all over five dollars for your trouble.

To John Hursh
Canton?Ohio

I will try to answer yours that I received some time ago. Was glad to hear of some of the old relations.

First I will tell you the relationship to Philip Harsh. He was a brother to my grandfather(John). He was here on a visit long time ago. I seen him.

Grandfather came from Washington Co. Pa. in 1806. Had 3 boys 2 girls; Daniel, Samuel and John, Girl's names Margaret and Eve. Daniel and family are all dead. 4 of Samuel's family are living yet. 4 of John's, myself and 3 sisters, 2 live in Logan and 1 in Kansas.

My grandfather's name was John.* He was 72 years. I am 84 past. I live in the place where my grandfather settled when he came to the backwoods as they called it at that time.

The two aunts, Margaret 81 years and Eve 92 years, of first generation, are dead. Grandfather had a sister living here by the name of Barbery. Was married to a Hansel. The first 2 generations are dead. The 3rd are living here.

I am 84 y. and my wife 77 years. Been married 59 years. Raised a family of 9 boys and 3 girls, 5 boys and 3 girls living yet. I can do a purty good day's work yet.

I would like to come to your re-union but we have one at the same time. I seen D. D. Harsh(poss B.9-4-2-6?) at our Institute last Dec.

We had it very dry all spring till the last 10 days. Plenty of rain. Oats and grass very short.

Yours truly,
(Signed) Sol Harsh

*He was 91 years old when he died. My father's name was John.

Story of Life in Hocking County in 1829 Described in Old Clipping

by Dave Goldsberry, Logan Correspondent

If we were to be transported back in time to the year 1829 there would be few things in Hocking County which we would recognize as part of our modern civilization. In the past 120 years the region has changed from a primitive one into a land of high speed highways, electricity, modern homes, schools and stores with easy contact with the world. Published in the old Journal-Gazette newspaper by Thad L. Allen on June 17, 1909, was an article entitled "Conditions and Incidents of 80 years ago in Hocking County". The newspaper clipping, now yellowed and falling to pieces, was part of the collection of the late Clinton Webb, who for many years served as Logan correspondent for the Messenger.

The story of life in Hocking County in 1829 was given Mr. Allen by "Uncle" Sol Harsh, who was then described as "one of the most active men in the country at his age, 86." In the article, Uncle Sol "tells the story of Hocking County, of Logan, and particularly of his own neighborhood, four miles southwest of town on the Gibisonville road for over 80 years. "The following story is based on this clipping written by Mr. Allen, who died April 1, 1921, and on the 1883 "History of the Hocking Valley".

John Harsh, Sr., grandfather of Uncle Sol, came from Washington County, Pa., and in 1808 settled on the section of land later occupied by Uncle Sol for so many years. Here he built a cabin and raised five children, three sons and two daughters, while his son, John Harsh, Jr., "was more fortunate, he being the father of eleven children."

Destination of these early pioneers was New Lancaster, now Lancaster, but John Harsh, Sr. was quoted as saying "The nearer we got to New Lancaster the less we heard of the town." Accompanied by his brother-in-law, Jacob Hoke, he settled on a section of land and cleared the earth for crops. In order to keep deer and other wild animals from destroying these crops, they built a brush wood fence which "served its purpose well." Harsh and Hoke were close behind the Indians who had left the area the year previously and settled near Upper Sandusky. Annually Dan Hoke, a relative, would travel to this Upper Sandusky region, where he traded with the Indians and "returned with a goodly sum of money."

When travelling here from Pennsylvania, these Hocking County pioneers crossed the Ohio River at Wheeling by placing their clothes in a sugar trough and swimming across. At that time there was no other means of reaching the Ohio side at that point, according to the story.

What is now the Union Cemetery was the "Harsh burial ground", known in pioneer days as such long before the church building was erected. First person interred there was said to be Mrs. John Harsh, Sr., grandmother of Uncle Sol We are told that the "coffin was made of rough puncheons, riven by hard work by the pioneers from giant oaks of the forest."

The first public road, according to Uncle Sol, was the Marietta - Chillicothe public highway of which the Gibisonville Road was a part, being constructed in 1829. John Harsh, Sr. was said to have received a contract for cutting out the undergrowth, but this public thoroughfare was still described as "nothing but an unbeaten path through the trackless forest." An exciting time for Uncle Sol was the time he saw the first horse tracks on the new road.

Deer were said to be a common sight in Hocking County in those days, and herds of half a hundred brought no comment as being out of the ordinary. Uncle Sol is quoted as telling of a Mr. Hamilton, a surveyor who was in the employ of the old government land office in Chillicothe, seeing a bruin up a small tree in close proximity to the Union Cemetery one day while at work, prodded the bear from the tree and killed it.

Uncle Sol stated that he did his first harvesting with a sickle. Threshing was done in much the same fashion as was common in Biblical times. After the grain had been cut, the sod and soil were removed from a level piece of ground and flails, cut from saplings, were used to thresh the grain.

Shoes in the early days were made of deerskin, and when this could not be readily procured, home made cloth, called lindsey, was used for fashioning moccasins. Leather was a rarity as there were few cattle in the country at this time.

Uncle Sol was about seven or eight years old when he first saw Logan, which is now the seat of government for Hocking County. This city of more than 6000 was only a main street then and consisted of a few scattered houses and a store. At the Falls Mill, when Uncle Sol was a youngster, there was no bridge and crossing was made at a nearby ford when the river was low. The first store he was inside was said to be that of Horatio Hatch, a general store in Logan which became one of the most noted in the Hocking Valley.

Harness for horses was a home made project with the collar being of plaited corn husks, and the bridle, lines, and other portions being made of ropes. The trace-chains were usually long hickory switches.

A deserted cabin abandoned by some unknown settler became the first school. Here the teacher, usually an old man who took his pay in butter, eggs, meat, and other necessities of life, taught "readin', writin', and 'rithmetic" to the three to six children who made up the student body during the six weeks term.

When Uncle Sol was a boy, there was no paper money in this western country and only a few gold and silver coins. Salt sold for $4 a bushel and was carried in from Wheeling by pack horse.

The woods abounded with quail, squirrel, pheasant, deer, and wild turkey, and there were bear to be found, although they were not numerous. John Harsh, Sr., grandfather of Uncle Sol, would trap wild turkeys as an ordinary event since these wild birds were plentiful. Whenever there was to be a "cabin-raising", Mr. Harsh could be counted on to secure the wild turkey for the event.

For more than fifty years Uncle Sol assisted in digging every grave at the Union Cemetery, where he himself was buried on Sept. 4, 1909.

Solomon Harsh married Mary A. Elick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Elick on Dec. 9, 1847, and together they reared a family of 12 children on the old home place where John Harsh, Sr. had settled years before. Mrs. Harsh died shortly after she and Uncle Sol celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary. Their entire lifetime was spent within a quarter of a mile of the place they started housekeeping, a few miles from Logan in the heart of the western country.

Paul, Claude & Grace spent their lives on the family farm, living in the house built by their grandmother Brandt. Grace taught school 1919-1929, helped organize 4-H Clubs in Hocking Co and in 1983 named to 4-H Club Hall of Fame for her 52 years service as advisor. The family raised purebred Jersey cattle and 500 head of sheep. At one time they farmed over 400 acres in Scott's Creek valley. Active members of Scott's Creek Primitive Baptist Church. Claude served his community on various agricultural boards. Paul was a scoliotic cripple but active in farm work. (Some of my fondest memories of dietary treats are of angel-food cake with rich home-made ice cream as well as home-churned butter which they made as recently as 1985--RCH)

Stricker, Lawrence & Barbara

"By a survey made April 26, 1786, Survey book 1, page 272 we learn that land now in Buffalo Twp., then part of Virginia and in Ohio County, was surveyed and later a patent called 'Paulie' was granted to Lawrence Stricker for 369 1/2 acres and 15 poles. In the Register's Office of this County we find a will of Lawrence Stricker date April 1 1816 which will was duly probated on April 25, 1816 showing his death occurred between those two dates. The will shows that he was a resident of Buffalo Twp., that his wife's name was Barbara (whose death we learn occurred sometime about June 17, 1817 on which renunciation papers were signed in her estate and letters issued under date of June 18, 1817).

The will of Lawrence Stricker gives the following names of his children: Jacob Stricker; Elizabeth, wife of Samuel Black; Hannah, wife of Lewis Harsh(E.6); Mary, wife of Abram Nassches; Daniel Stricker; Susan, wife of John Newsung; Christina, wife of Philip Harsh(B.9); William Stricker; and Kitterin, wife of George Harsh(B.3). He gives 1/10 part of his property to his wife and to his nine children each a tenth." From a letter from John M.F. Hana to Miss Grace Harsh of Creston IA. Mr. Hana's grandmother was Christina Harsh(B.9-7), daughter of Philip & Christina (Streiker) Harsh and a sister of Daniel Harsh(B.9-9), grandfather of Grace S. Harsh. Mr. Hana was an attorney in Washington Co PA and lived his entire life there.

In Trumbull Co OH Deeds Vol 1 p74 Henry Lane & wife Elsa to Henry Harsh Land in Warren town plat dated 5/JY/1810

In Vol 1 p 354 Henry Harsh of Newton bought land from Bildad Hine 7/MY/1813 (Bildad Hine was a fellow member of the Newton Falls Disciples Church)

In the first listing of this family there were many descendants of a Henry Harsh who settled in Pickaway County OH in 1826. Recently it has become evident that this was not the same Henry Harsh who was a grandson of (C.) Ludwig Harsh and son of (C.1) John Henry Harsh. The presence of Henry Harsh (C.1-4) in Trumbull County from 1802 until ca1850 has been proven by Census(see below), as well as Church records, his Obituary in the Western Reserve Chronicle, Tax Records and other sources. To add to the confusion which was present earlier, both Henry Harsh (C.1-4) and Henry Harsh in Pickaway County had wives named Elizabeth. To distinguish both lines, the Henry Harsh who lived in Pickaway County, and whose antecedents are unknown at this time, is being given the arbitrary listing of H.0-1 and is listed in this volume on p432ff. When "Pickaway Henry Harsh's" origin is found it will be included in the proper place.

Robinson Harold Harsh Biography from {m}

ROBINSON HAROLD HARSH Born October 9, 1894 at Dayton, Liberty County Texas. Father, Robinson Henry Harsh, of Carroll County, Ohio. Mother, Mary Emma (Taylor) Harsh of Belleville, Kansas. At about age four, the family moved to Geary, Oklahoma, where father engaged in the grain business. At about age ten the family moved to Mountain Valley, Arkansas, twenty miles northwest of Hot Springs, Arkansas, where the father engaged in the saw milling business. Completed grade schooling there in the forest one room log cabin school house, which was attended by the natives of all ages, as was their custom. Then the family moved into Hot Springs, Arkansas, so the children could attend High School. Completed High Schooling, together with a concurrent course in Engineering mathematics. During 1914-1915 was employed by the City Engineer. August 15, 1916 entered the employ of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which was conducting a nationwide survey and inventory of all the railroads. Each survey crew consisted of twelve men, cook and porter, all housed in a Pullman car remodeled to furnish complete living quarters. Walked all over the United States in this service, following the endless ribbons of railroad. Field work completed in 1921. Went to Baldy, New Mexico, and was employed there as millman in a gold mine. Heard that the Interstate Commerce Commission had started office work on the field notes taken during the survey-inventory. Went to Chicago in 1922, and obtained employment by the Chicago office of the commission. At the end of 1922 the office was consolidated in Washington, D.C., and continued the work there into 1926. Then joined an engineering-accounting firm representing small railroads before the commission in matters pertaining to valuation and rates, arising from the commission's survey and appraisals. There followed four years of continuous travel all over the United States. Weary of travel, returned to Washington, D.C., married Miss Mary L. Miller on November 29, 1930, at Harper's Ferry, West Virginia, by Rev. W. Biggs Elliot, at the Methodist Episcopal Parsonage, and settled down in Washington with the intention of staying put. Entered the service of the Bureau of Internal Revenue where still employed.(1947)

Family consists of two daughters, Janice Mione, and Novella Rucean Harsh. No political affiliations. Presbyterian. Hobby, pursuing research on Harsh-Harsch-Hersh Genealogy, in association with Mr. James R. Harsch, Rev. Harvey E. Harsh, and Mr. Joseph C. Harsch, our combined efforts put together these {m} volumes.

The HARSH CHURCH

Excerpts from the Record Book of the Harsh Congregation Carroll Co OH

The HARSH CHURCH stands on Lunar Rd in Harrison Twp. It is a well-kept white frame building where services are still held weekly. The cemetery is across the road in Washington twp, and the markers there begin with 1827. The land, on the east side of a spring and adjoining a log house, was donated by Phillip Harsh, after whom the church was named. The church is also known as Swamp Church, apparently because the Swamp School stood nearby. In 1845 in a log cabin on the border of Harrison and Washington twps., a small group met to form a congregation.

The leather record book is still in existence, and, to show the effort made to establish the church, a few of the early records will be quoted.

"At a meeting held on the thirty-first of March 1845 at Hershs meeting house in Washington & Harrison townships Carroll County Ohio for the purpose of organizing said Congregation, the house was called to order. A motion was offered for Mathias Tressel to act as president, and Isaac Miller as Secretary of this meeting, which was decided in the affirmative, by the yeas and nays. The intention of the meeting was made known, and the house proceeded to business.

"As we believe that no society can exist, and prosper, either politic or Religious, without some Rules of Government, we the undersigned adopt the following Rules and Articles for our future Government.

"Article 1st That we be governed by the Constitution and discipline of the German Reformed Church, as adopted by the German Reformed Synod of the United States, at Mifflinburg Pennsylvania, in the year of our Lord Eighteen hundred & Twenty Eight.

"Article 2nd That the officers for our legislation, be as follows; two elders and two deacons; one elder & one deacon to be elected for one year; also, one elder & one deacon for two years; and every subsequent year elect one Elder & one Deacon, who shall serve for a term of two years. One Treasurer & one Recording Secretary, to be elected annually. All Officers to be elected by the members of the Congregation, on Whitsuntide Monday or as soon after as convenient.

"Article 3rd That no Preacher can be our Paster, that does not go in for Protracted Meetings, Prayer Meetings, Family Worship, and experience Meetings.

"Article 4th That no individual can be a Member of this Congregation, that will not erect, a Family Altar.

"Article 5th That the above Articles shall not be changed, or amended, except by a vote of two-thirds of the Congregation.

"The Harsh Congregation in connection with the congregation at Carrollton and New Jefferson (the latter being in Harrison Co) became vacant and these constituting as heretofore as pastoral charge under the name of Carrollton Charge of the Ger. Ref. Church, extended a call to Rev. N. E. Gild of Shepherdstown Va, to become the Pastor of said Charge. This call was duly received and accepted, and he accordingly entered on the duties of the pastoral office on the 24th day of August A.D.1851. He preached his first sermon in the afternoon of the 24th at 2 O'clock P.M."

In 1986, the Harsh Church is still meticulously cared for, the addition of a vestibule and dormer being the only changes made in the exterior since it was built. The interior retains its two aisles, original pews, all in excellent condition and demonstrating the love of the congregation for this little white church. (CHH)

KOCHERTHAL

Josua Harrsch was born 21 years after the 30 years war, on 30 July 1669, son of Hans Joerg Harrsch (1610 - 1675) & his 3rd wife, Elisabeth Leonhard, at Fachsenfeld near Aalen in the valley of the Kocher. He called himself: "Joshua of the Valley of Concord, commonly called Kocherthal".

Joshua's father was the Bailiff at Woellwarth, and provided an excellent education for his son, first at Classical High School at Schwaebisch Hall, then at U. of Jena. He was ordained by Johann Anton, Baron of Felz; Melchior, Baron of Festenberg; and Johann Friedrich Goeler of Ravensburg, as the Lutheran minister for the communities of Eschelbronn, Moenchzell, and Daisbach in the Kraichgau. The three communities were of Lutheran denomination, under the Elector of the Palatinate.

Joshua married Sibylla Charlotta Winchenbach, daughter of the minister of the Reformed church at Gerichstetten. The couple lived in Eschelbronn "after the ruined parsonage, which was not habitable at all, could be repaired and used as a modest home." Destructive competition existed between the Lutheran churches and the old Reformed Church. Joshua worked 12 years in the three Lutheran churches before being determined to emigrate, his decision being triggered by poor living conditions and the repeated plunders under Marshal Villars during the War of the Spanish Succession (1701 - 1714).

Joshua went to London in 1704, where he contacted British nobles who were adherents of Lord Granville and John Archdale. They were both big estate owners in Carolina and interested in a "peopling" of the colony. In 1706 in Frankfurt, he published a pamphlet under the pseudonym of "Kocherthal": "A detailed report of the famous country of Carolina, situated in England's America", which was printed at least 4 times prior to 1709. A printer's additions gave the impression that those who wanted to emigrate could expect help and support from the British Crown.

In March 1708, Joshua, his family, and a small group of emigrants travelled secretly down the Rhine to Rotterdam, and thence to London, where he met some other people from his country. He was under the protection of the Crown and the Whig cabinet.

In May 1708, Queen Anne decreed that Joshua Harrsch and his company would settle in the colony of NY, where they were asked to produce pitch and tar for the British navy.

In Oct. 1708, 53 Palatines and "Kocherthal" sailed on the "Globe", anchoring on 1 Jan 1709 at the mouth of Quassaic Creek. Queen Anne had made the group "Denizens of the Kingdom", had awarded 2,190 acres for the people, 500 acres for the church, given foodstuffs for 1 year, agricultural implements, and 20 pounds Sterling to Kocherthal. The story goes that Kocherthal carried in his baggage "One barrel with lime, 3 gouges, 2 mortise chisels, 1 sharpening stone, 1 clinometer, 1 leveling rule, 1 compass".

The first hard winter passed, and Kocherthal returned to London, and once more collected a group and brought them to NY in the spring of 1710.

Emigrants of Southwestern Germany continued to crowd into London. In 1711, a refutation of Kocherthal's "too successful" brochure was printed. The title of this pamphlet, written by Anton Wilhelm Boehme, a German Preacher at the British court, was "The desired Canaan which was not found at the merry graves - or a detailed report of the ill-fated voyage of those who recently came from Germany to go on a pilgrimage to English Carolina and Pennsylvania, situated in America; a report in a well-considered opposition to the one-sided and unfounded report by Kocherthal".

Kocherthal knew none of this, and continued to take care of the "Palatines" in his new home, organizing Lutheran churches and visiting villages. He conducted the 1st census in 1718, and registered 1601 persons who lived in 394 families. The parish register which Harrsch began on ship-board in 1708 and continued until his death in 1719 is the oldest parish register in the US written in the German language. The title page reads as follows: (Eng. translation)

"God may turn it to the best !

We are indebted to Luther R Kelker, Esq. for a copy of the naturalization paper of the Rev. Joshua Kocherthal and his Palatine associates, on file in the Department of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. The original is in Latin. In our translation of the genealogical portion of the document the Scriptural names are given in their English form, though of course there is no distinction in the Latin between Mary and Maria, Anne and Anna. German names are kept in their original form. The word "and" is frequently supplied:

"We are anxious for those beloved by us: Joshua Kocherthal and Sybil Charlotte his wife; Christian Joshua his son and Benigna Sybil and Susanna Sybil his daughters; Lorentz Schwisser and Anne Catharine his wife, and John his son; Heinrich Rennan and Joanna his wife; and Lorentz and Heinrich his sons; Susanna Liboschain, Mary Joanna Liboschain; Andrew Volck and Anne Catharine his wife; George Jerome his son; and Mary Barbara and Anne Gertrude his daughters; Michael Weigand and Anne Catharine his wife; Tobias and George his sons; and Anna Maria his daughter; Jacob Weber and Anne Elizabeth his wife, and Eva Maria and Eva Elizabeth his daughters; John Jacob Pletel and Anne Elizabeth his wife, and Margaret Anne Sarah and Catharine his daughters; John Fischer and Mary Barbara his wife; Melchior Gulch and Anne Catharine his wife, Heinrich his son, and Magdalene his daughter; Isaac Turk Petro Rose and Joanna his wife; Mary Wemarin and Catharine Wemarin her daughter; Isaac Feber and Catharine his wife and Abraham his son; Daniel Fierr and Anna Maria his wife, and Andrew and John his sons; Hubert Hubertson and Jacob his son; and Hermann Schuneman: which persons are German Lutherans, reduced to extreme poverty by very frequent incursions of the French into the Palatinate in Germany, and recently have fled into this our Kingdom of Great Britain to the end that they may inhabit our Province of New York in America, and that they themselves may be and will be, and each one of them may be and will be, natives (indiginae) and lieges of us, our heirs and successors in our Kingdom of Great Britain."

Preface

Genealogy --Is this only research of ancestors or descendants? With the concept of genealogy, many people, especially the inexperienced, think of research of the past, of the dead, and of hunts in old dusty documents and certificates.

Actually there is something true in this idea, but one should consider that without a history to teach us the past, the present would look bad and the future probably would look worse.

The search of the past by the genealogists is not restricted only to the collection of dates of forefathers and descendants but also leads inevitably to cultural history.

An essential difference of the cultural history acquired by us in school and literature from that of the genealogists is the bond with our forefathers.

Our forefathers lived during this history; they were formed by it and experienced happiness and sorrow through it.

For us Abstgmünder-Harsch descendants, as for most other civilized people, the past lies in the land, because our forefathers lived for hundreds of years, more or less free, as farmers or laborers in the country.

An extensive history of the past centuries teaches us that this life in the country was not always easy and that it was marked by starts and stops; there were also steps backward because of innumerable wars with their consequences of misery, distress, hunger, epidemics, death and decay.

If, in spite of all these unfavorable circumstances, a family or a branch has continued without blemish and with responsibility through the centuries it is not alone a result of "better times" but is also a matter of inheritance and to be found in the essence and character of these people.

It is reassuring to us to know that this strength of character did not allow errors and, therefore, through the generations, always and without exception we could find good family-oriented fathers and mothers as well as good and faithful parishioners and citizens.

At the present time in which, in contrast to former times, we are doing well, we have the opportunity to leave our descendants more information than just dates and facts. My request of you therefore is: Write down the lingering memories of the events, personalities and unique attributes of yourself, your parents and your grandparents and preserve these for your descendants.

I want to take this opportunity to thank all who helped with collaboration and support to further this writing of the research of our family tree.

1. FAMILY NAME HARSCH

Meaning and Origin

The use of surnames, related to the adoption of family names, took place long before the first appearance of those named Harsch, that is to say, before 1334 in which Benz Harsch, a citizen of Stuttgart, is mentioned.

It will be necessarily speculative to establish the family name Harsch exactly; that is to confirm an accurate meaning from the many possibilities.

In late medieval writing the word Harsch, also written, Härsch, is often used and has the meaning warrior troop, either on foot or horse-back, formed as an advance guard. In later records this is no longer found as identification of a military group, perhaps because another name became customary or the technique of war changed. It is possible that members of these troops called themselves Harscher or Harsch and so arrived at their surname and later their family name.

In support of the above interpretation other etymologists identify the "Harsch" directly as mercenaries or freebooters.

A war horn was called a Harschhorn and was carried by members of a military troop.

These explanations appear quite plausible, since indeed many family names were based upon an occupation formerly practiced such as Brenner (burner), Maier (dairyman), Müller (miller), Ziegler (brick-mason) and others.

The existing word, "Harsch", in the language today is equivalent to crusted snow, and it is certainly in support of the concept, "Harsch-troops/advance guard", because this frozen upper layer exerts a form of protection for the soft snow beneath.

A third meaning of the term "Harsch" is derived by Professor J. K. Brechenmacher. According to his derivation, Harsch is a modification of Harst (or Hurst) which describes either an armed guard or shrubby undergrowth.

All these meanings have now a common denominator: Whether advance guard, snowcrust or undergrowth, there is something protective meant, be it in advance, above, or around. Perhaps the origin of field or farm names which are called "Harsch", or a compound with "Harsch", has the same basis. In a few villages like "Harschweil", Switzerland, "Harschhof", Upper Pfalz, and others, it has been established that at no time have bearers of the name Harsch lived there. These place names are not traceable back to their founders. Maybe in earlier centuries these farmsteads or common pastures served the same function as "Harsch-troops", and were therefore a sort of defensive settlement or protective common pasture.

The nearest pasture land with the name "Harsch" is to be found almost 2 kilometers south of Drackenstein.

Furthermore, in the Swabian district hospital record book of 1550, Hans Schreiber of Hüttenhof is mentioned, "A Tagwerk on the Harsch meadow".

There is a small village, Harschbach, in the Westerwald area; in earlier times it was written Harspach. The meaning of this place name has not yet been determined.

In the district of St. Wendel there is a Harschberger farm; in this case the sense of the word, Harsch, has not been explained.

In conclusion, the following can be ascertained:

(1) The origin of the concept, Harsch, in the sense of a snow formation and of a military troop probably took place in or around South Germany.

(2) The family name of Harsch is to be found almost exclusively in the South German area and can be accepted as a very old name. Because of its shortness and easy spelling it has remained unchanged for centuries.

(3) The time and order of development of the name, Harsch, as meaning a snow formation or a military troop is decided in favor of snow formation since snow has fallen long before military troops existed.

(4) The meaning of the family name, Harsch, is surely not to be traced back only to the "Harsch", as members of a military troop, but has, farther back, a broader meaning of "protective of", "securely surrounding", or simply "giving protection". That a certain form or formation is associated with it appears likely.

2. FIRST APPEARANCE AND DISTRIBUTION IN SOUTH GERMANY

The existence of the Harsch name can be proven during the 14th and 15th centuries--the time before the introduction of church records--by certificates, individual documents, tax and recruitment lists, among others.

From these documents stored in various archives one can rarely find a genealogical connection between the name bearers mentioned; so many of these documents merely give proof of the existence and activities of the ancestor in this time.

And so we first find records of those named Harsch who lived in the cities: 1334 in Stuttgart, 1349 in Augsburg and 1365 in Marbach. These Harsch were certainly not the first, but it should be attributed to the development of record keeping, which was pursued more intensively in the towns than in the country.

It is also unlikely that these city dwellers gave up or changed their position to become farmers and eventually appear as the ancestors of the next Harsch to appear--the Dewanger Harsch.

In the 15th and 16th centuries the Harsch emerge in quick succession at various places in South Germany, belonging to the land and the lower classes.

The following chronological listing shows this vigorous and wide-spread expansion.

This enumeration lists the earliest mentioned name-bearers of each place. Several of these can be called ancestors since the branch or tree has multiplied for some time and in some cases until today.

Of significance for us Abstgmünder Harsch descendants are those Harsch who are named in this presentation to be from Dewangen and surroundings, since these people can be viewed as likely ancestors of the Harsches in our area.

3. The Various Families and Groups

The introduction of Church Books in the 16th century and later is seen as a blessed event from the standpoint of the Genealogist. For the first time, with the help of records, a nearly comprehensive research of a family becomes possible. With the introduction of the citizenship register and registrar's office records in the 19th century, finally the family research is completed with the Church book accounts together with the official sources. (The Napoleon Civil code was present already across the Rhine by the end of the 18th century.)

A civil record lets us discover origins in the church books since the recorded ancestor is as a rule found first in the church books.

Sources for evidence further back and additional information include, among others:

Tax rolls Tribute from the subject recorded by secular and religious rulers

Army Rolls From war conscriptions are lists and muster rolls

Special Notice Lists Among others, for Württemberg, for example, the veterans' illnesses of a soldier in the Napoleonic War

Town Charters set forth the attainment of civil rights, recorded most who lived in the city

Receipts and Notes in the form of seizure lists, house and court records, deeds, bequests, et al

Public Records from an activity such as jury duty or appearance as a witness. Also criminal register (earlier penal book)

Matriculations High Schools, Universities

Mustering Out Lists Next to death lists, one of the best genealogical sources

3.1 Eastern Alpine Province

In contrast to earlier centuries, almost all the Harsch-clan which is settled today in the Eastern Alps, belong to the Abstgmünder group.

In the 16th and 17th centuries, the provinces of Jagst, Kocher and Rems, which were in the same general Southwest area of Germany, were split up. Underlying the dissolution was legal status for states and people, as well as religious and secular powers and principles.

Today in the Eastern Alp region there are 3 states recognized, namely:

Aalen, since 1360 a free city-state

Ellwangen, named a unit in 1229

Schwäbisch Gmünd, (the oldest state, established prior to 1162), did not understand, recognize, or use the power and influence it had as a state itself with its surroundings. On the contrary, they lived their own more or less fortunate lives, mostly peaceful, ordered and comfortable, and were the supporting element of citizenship. Different religious and secular ruling kingdoms were customary in the rural districts. Large districts of today's eastern areas were called Württemberg until about the year 1802. At that time the Duchy of Württemberg, the heart land and old Württemberg were distinctive parts of the later kingdom. These "eastern districts" were called "New Württemberg" after their incorporation, with the ruling seat in Ellwangen.

First jurisdiction Ellwangen, stood in the distant area and outlying district in between the Jagst and Kocher rivers.

Reichsstift Neresheim, at the time of its greatest expansion in the 13th century, boasted of the possession of 7 villages very widely scattered, and of different revenues in 71 distant regions of the Härtsfeldes.

Klöster Schwab. Gmünd, with possession of the far outer half of the township, thus in Welland, Rems-, and Leintal etc

The Count of Adelmann and the Baron from Wöllwarth with frequent boundary changes between Essingen, Lauterburg, Fachsenfeld, Hohenstadt, Laubach, Leinroden, Neubronn, Rechberghausen, Schechingen, and others.

The Lords of Ahelfingen with a headquarters in Hohen-alfingen, Waseralfingen, Horn etc were for a time vassals of the Ellwangen Monastery, later also lieges of the Count of Ottingen. When in the year 1545 the last male descendant Wolfgang of Ahelfingen died childless, the Provost of Ellwangen dissolved the province and appointed a ruler with the seat in Wasseralfingen.

The Count Fugger in 1551 acquired Niederalfingen as well as Hüttlingen, Sulzdorf, Lengenfeld and others and for almost 300 years, namely until 1834-1836, was the "ruler".

Still to be mentioned is Deutschordensburg Kapfenburg, the territory's central point, from which the ruler officiates from Härtsfeld and in the upper Jagst valley.

3.1.1 Aalener Harsch about 1600

In St. Johann Chapel in Aalen, is a memorial wall tablet of Caspar Harsch, called the carver, citizen and member of the council of the city of Aalen, who died 21 January 1576. His father Hans Harsch had bought a field in Aalen in 1505.

1611 and 1624 Georg Harsch is Mayor of Aalen; the same one was named in a lease of a farm in the district of Kochenburg.

Aalener Harsch moved for a time to Augsburg; there appeared:

1637 Hans Harsch __Beinringeler__
1653 Tobias Harsch
1653 and 1660 Hieronymus Harsch
1665 Christopher Harsch __Beinringler

Tobias Harsch moved to Kempten, but appears to have died soon after, for his widow again appears in Augsburg in 1655.

Hieronymus Harsch was the cousin of the Magistrate Johann Martin Harsch from Neubronn. This shows the relationship of the Aalener and Leinroder Harsch.

In 1444, one finds Kunz Harsch, brick maker in Himmlingen. However it is apparent that the complicated and rapidly changing territory boundaries makes it difficult to find Aalener Harsch subsequently. The three places called Himmlingen, Grauleshöfe and Hirschhof earlier were called Grosz-_, Mindern-_ and Klein-Himmlingen. Groszhimmlingen at that time consisted of 9 estates; over each of them, a provost ruled from the capital Ellwangen and the city-state of Aalen. The other 6 estates had their capital in Gülten but service and levies were made by the bailiff of Aalen.

The occupation of brick maker by Kunz Harsch is certain, for in the Supervisors' book of 1854 we read: "People have heard of that old fellow by the woods' edge in the Himmlinger area, who built an old brick kiln. He found that the brown earth from the mountains made stronger tile, and lay next to the material which is used in glass manufacture. This can no longer be found."

These kilns appear to have been standing there at the woods' edge since the 15th century and there our Kunz Harsch worked as a brick maker before he went to Dewangen.

3.1.2 ABSTGMUNDER TREE 1630-1975

In the year 1634 in the register of inhabitants of Ellwangen's first clerical district of Heuchlingen are named Leonhard HARSCH, builder in Abstgmünd, and Melchior HARSCH, laborer in Abstgmünd. The HARSCH name is first mentioned in a document in Abstgmünd at this time, before the church book records were begun June 1, 1664.

Abstgmünd was in the possession of the Provost of Ellwangen from 1585 until 1806, and therefore during this period was always Catholic.

The first colonization of the Abstgmünder area probably began a few hundred years after the founding by ancient villagers (Hüttlingen, Heuchtlingen and others) about the year 1000.

In 1024) the Ellwangeners lost the wilderness border of the Virngundawald, from Hüttlingen along the Kocher to Sulzbach. The Kocher was a natural border of the wilderness which ended at Abstgmünd and the water formed the boundary of free hunting for the city state of Gmünd.

This natural feature was also an important boundary and it is probable that the first colonization occurred in order to control and defend each side's interests. Traces were recently uncovered of a part of the choir of an old Roman-style chapel and the ground floor of the parish tower. Possibly one day we may find still older traces since as is well known people frequently built Christian chapels and churches on old heathen sites.

The name of the church patron St. Michael likewise could appear, since this portion was taken over soon from the earlier parish Hüttlingen following the separation.

There is no direct key to the derivation of the name Abstgmünd, for in the 12th century the name appears with "Gemunden"=Gmünd, after Mündung(mouth), münden. Probably later the honorable addition "Abts" (indicating abbey or Abbott) came about to distinguish it from Schwäbish Gmünd and others as the Gmünd belonging to the "Abt" von Ellwangen.

All place names including Abstgmünd which refer to a certain place were ancient villages with "-ingen" suffixed. Apparently "Abtzgemunde" first appeared in 1251.

In the 14th century a part of the place known as the Ellwangen fief was in the hands of the Lord from Hefte. A common name "Hefte" today still means it is from this former dominion.

The largest part of Abstgmünd traceable belonged to the Hagken from Wellstein. In the year 1374 the Abbot from Ellwangen, Albrecht the Hagk, purchased, as contracted, Wellstein from his brother Ulrich Hagk. Three years later, about 1377, Konrad von Hirnheim purchased from the Abbey Ellwangen the stronghold Wellstein with all appurtenances and the village Abstgmünd in Vischenz, including lay-tithes, for 22,000 Gulden.

The Hürnheim family are from the Ries and are one of the most important families of the Ries district with many citadels and castles. So it was that from 1368 to 1531 the Lord of the manor was from Niederalfingen but also had seats of government in Waiblingen, Laubach Schechingen, Unterkochen and Katzenstein.

After the death of Hans Johann von Hürnheim in 1585, Wellstein along with Abstgmünd came again under the jurisdiction of the Abbey Ellwangen. The abbot at that time added Abstgmünd to the district Heuchlingen, however the magistrate named Abstgmünd as the ruler's seat and from this time the importance of Abstgmünd increased. After the appearance of the previously mentioned list of inhabitants in 1634 in Heuchlingen there were 8 farmers and 16 laborers. In Abstgmünd there were a total of 10 farmers and 40 laborers.

The Iron-ore discovery at Abstgmünd and introduction of smelters at Abstgmünd gave the area new life and for a long time afterwards gave it an importance in the economic history of our land.

In the census of Dec. 1850 Abstgmünd had 1,823 inhabitants; Wasseralfingen, 1,755 inhabitants. In the year 1929, at the time of the great Depression, the idle smelters were sold. Today the names of such places as Altschmiede (Old Forge) and Neuschmiede (New Forge) recall the time of the industrialization.

Today's Abstgmünd coat of arms represented on one side by three crosses and a hemisphere of the "von der Hefte" and on the other by the bishop's staff of the Abbey of Ellwangen recalls the first noble rulers.

The appearance of the Abstgmünder Harsch had begun more than ten years earlier from the viewpoint of genealogy and the family tree, but we restrict ourselves to following the men of the past and their descendants. In our family research it is now my undertaking to discover all the descendants of our forefather Thomas Harsch and to record the corresponding data. Earlier information contains the main points; later searches become naturally lengthier.

As it stands in October 1975 there are 905 descendants. Of these, 408 are married, of which 193 are men and 215 women. Of the 215 women, who therefore did not carry on the name Harsch, there are about 180 still not investigated; that is, information about the husbands and descendants of these women is missing.

The development of the entire group of descendants and the family background, as to the division of the ancestors, is explained in a series of tables.

Abstgmünd - Home of the Harsches for Centuries

Abstgmünd and the neighboring districts were the main dwelling place of our forebears for about 200 years or 7 generations. The reason they remained in this stable state is shown by the history of these 200 years. The agrarian and preindustrial life style of the people of the country was determined by the epoch of feudalism and uncontrollable destiny of our forefathers. More than three-fourths of all men lived primarily off the land by farming. They lived their lives in small quarters and remained there. Most of the people could neither read nor write and in their lifetime did not leave their narrow unbroken home circle. The established law allotted to each man his place and chance to live. With his birth he was nobleman, townsman, farmer or paymaster and the opportunity to elevate his circumstances was small and rare. As a rule, each remained in the social rank in which his parents and forefathers had also lived. This applied in particular to the largest number, the dependent working people, the bonded farmers, artisans, servants, maids, slaves. All of these could neither become free nor independent to choose dwelling or family estate.

In the 18th century the great majority of the farmer-folk lived bound to the soil and lord of the manor, yet drawn together by their common bondage. From parents to children, they bequeathed dependency, submission, and obligation to deliver up regularly produce and gold as working tribute of the peasants to the landed owners, that is, to the nobles and the church. That was the equivalent for the lease-holding farmers of relinquishing field and pasture-land for protection and welfare, since the lord of the manor provided police power, order, local administration and the maintenance of church and school.

In these earliest times, Ellwangen was the site of the ruling lord of the manor. Large areas of land, villages, personal and real property were all the possession of the provost in 1600. For the maintenance of their rights and power more offices were then erected: in Heuchlingen, on the Kochenburg (Unterkirchen), in Wasseralfingen (a high baliff), and Westhausen (a secondary office).

Abstgmünd belonged at this time to the district of Heuchlingen, (Wöllstein, Buch [Hangendenbuch], Verderbüchelberg, Sägmühle on the Roth, Birkhof, Mäderhof, Riedhof, a Hof in Gmünder Weiler Holzleithen and small holdings in Württemberg such as the village of Göggingen in Gmünd were all included.)

From the previous description we can conclude that for a traveler to leave his dwelling was fraught with known difficulties and circumstances. The first traveler we find in the manor province or the bordering provinces was in the 18th century. Generally marriage was the reason for relocation and so we find new dwelling places such as Neuler, Wasseralfingen, Ellenberg, Dewangen, Wöllstein, Hohenstadt, Bühlerzell, and Degenfeld in the first five generations.

With the end of dependence on the lords of the manors and the following industrialization all this was altered. A great wandering within Germany began and it is estimated that from 1860 to 1890 about 22-24 million people left their original homes. At the same time the great German emigration began and from 1860 to 1890 about 3 million people left the kingdom.

Our Abstgmünder forebears were among these filled with wanderlust and the farmers' and cartwrights' sons became artisans and factory workers. The state and kingdom borders were no longer a great hindrance and by the turn of the century, Harsches were settled in Stuttgart, Prussia, Switzerland and the USA.

While this emigration diminished after a few decades, the wandering within Germany continued until our time. Today we know of over 100 places in Germany, >30 in Switzerland, and >8 in USA in which the family is known to have lived or still lives. (See place register) After the current registration was completed, there are still living in the main locations of the family as follows:

Sociological Structure--Pre-Industrial Period

Farmer and laborer were the exclusive vocations of our forebears for centuries. Because of their economic dependency, these people were occupied wholly with current necessities, and for many years they worked only for their daily bread.

The wars with all their ensuing misery, illness and epidemics destroyed their property and with it touched the social order above them. Especially the 30-years war (1618-1648) marked a deep cut in the population in which the rural people were affected more than the luckier city-dwellers. The decades, in which soldiers of various nations passed through the land, demanded greater sacrifices from these people. To them plundering, ill-treatment, burning and murder were the order of the day. These struck the members of our family, if one considers that around 40% of the people became sacrifices to the nonsensical wars and their aftermath. As a result of this, several of our relatives sought another life style.

In reckoning the damages of war of the district of Heuchlingen in 1645, some Harsches are named when taxes and damages are recorded. The more extensive damages are still not known.

The daily life of the farmer in the 17th and 18th centuries was, compared to today, simple and modest for all that followed a straight path. The agricultural tools and implements in use at that time were primitive for there were no machines. Path and road were not easily constructed since limestone or sandstone base predominated. Bridges were built in Heuchlingen in 1777, in Abstgmünd in 1840 (over the Lein) and in 1847 (over the Kocher). The draft animals were mostly cows and oxen, with horses being used by the larger farms. So we see recognized field and cart work identified long ago with the concept of "Morgen" or "Tag-werk". In those days that denoted the time interval needed for a recognized field area. For the farmer the time was continually centered around the products of agriculture and stock farming. In agriculture the primary 3-field rotation had been long in use: 1) Winter crops, 2) Summer crops, 3) fallow season, alternating predominantly in wheat, rye, barley, oats, flax, hemp, turnips, beets, peas and lentils. Very little corn was raised; potatoes were planted for the first time in Württemberg in 1701. Crop production in this form of culture depended primarily on the condition of the soil and natural manure. With the introduction of improved field management in which plowing was used in cultivation, an essential improvement was begun. Due to the attitude of the farmers (holding fast to old and proven methods, skeptical of anything new) and the scarcity of good seeds, such conditions continued for a long time, until these innovations could be accomplished.

So it is no wonder that in 1850 only about half of the arable fields were generally plowed. Greater obstructions to the raising of crops were the ever-recurring bad harvests due to floods, droughts, and the whole gamut of forces of nature, money and drudgery. The final blow was in 1849 when entire crops of grain, turnips, flax, hemp, peas, lentils, vetch, beets and hay were lost by the Ellwangen peasants. This lead further to the "bloody decade" when each pig, goose, duck or hen was slaughtered. Since by far the greatest part of possessions, both land and buildings, was estate property, he did not have a free choice about these. Without permission of the lord of the manor, he dared not change or even sell, for the master was not only proprietor but profiteer.

Moreover, most of the property was entailed and on the death of the lord of the manor, the descendant could be named in possession of manor and title on payment of the entailment fee. In 1809 there were still in the villages of Abstgmünd, Heuchlingen, Unterkochen and Wasseralfingen 363 life-bound and 163 entailed properties which were changed by 1817 to free rental properties. This change in free properties, known as allocation, meant the end of entailed acquisitions since they often could not pay the high price.

The status of our forefathers and therefore the social standing, was classified at this time according to the amount of possessions. For the farmers, the differences were:

Complete farmer	Most with over 60 Morgen of land, often owning horses, hence called horse farmer
One-half farmer	Correspondingly less land, had mostly oxen, hence called oxen farmer
One-fourth farmer	also called vassal, had no more than 6-8 Morgen of land, with only cows and for that reason called cow-farmer

After these follow the half-vassal, then the 'Seldner', who is also frequently described as a bound-man, who possesses a 'Selde', or a dwelling with a garden. Then came the cottager who owned only a house, and finally the lodgers who did not even own a house.

Truly free and independent farmers are known: In the year 1605 the last owner of a Farm in Reichenbach brought himself under the protection and shelter of the Schwabian city of Gmünd.

The hamlet Heisenberg of Wassralfingen was exempt from tithes until at least 1384. It was only required to pay yearly rent, road upkeep and laborers' wages.

The peasants in the villages did not have as much security as the farmers of the land. They were called 'hand-workers' or artisans. As the name implies, they worked with their hands since machinery was unknown for a long time. In these early times only the grinding of grain was mechanized, by the turning of mill-stones with water-power channeled through wood channels. As a rule, all the trades, as well as farming, were done in order to supplement their income. Only with the consent of the ruling lords was any alteration dared, either by the farmers or the tradesmen, both of which were subject to taxation. The artisans were supported by the Guild organizations of which the chief group belonged to Ellwangen.

The guilds, sometimes known as corporations, were unions designed to represent many interests, partly individual contractors and partly of groups. As a rule, an artisan dared work only in his village; no master dared employ a worker in a village where he did not dwell or was not known or guaranteed, or had not been a citizen for a year. In Aalen, for example, only "legitimate and free-born lads" could be enrolled as apprentice to an artisan, while children from "unfree and illegitimate" circumstances dared to learn no other trade than that of their fathers. Millers, barbers, and linen-weavers were usually not free. Shepherds, publicans, city servants, trumpeters, travelers, and knackers were customarily not free in older times.

The introduction of trade freedom in the middle of the 19th century brought essential relief, and allowed more room for individual development. This explains the appearance of an increase in artisan-vocations in our Abstgmünder family by the 6th generation. From the only family occupation of laborer we now find smith, baler, shoemaker, joiner, tailor, and beer-brewer. The increase in artisans is also caused by the beginning industrialization which, especially through the foundries, supported this swing to their expanding life-styles.

Industrialization and its Results

The finishing and case-hardening of steel provided the foundation for the later industrial development in iron and iron-ware in our area, essential to the Härtsfeld.

In the year 1361 Kaiser Karl IV granted to the monks of the Cloister Königsbronn the rights of baking and use of water power in grinding of flour as it appeared to their advantage. This was apparently the beginning of industry in the valley.

In the year 1365, the Kaiser himself granted to Count Ulrich von Helfenstein the dispensation to construct mills on the Brenz and Kocher rivers in his dominion Heidenheim, and to have iron forges in his state.

In the year 1366 the Kaiser Karl granted also to the Cloister at Königsbronn the dispensation to construct iron mills and forges in their district on the Brenz and Kocher, as well as in other districts. In addition the Cloister would be permitted to quarry stone in "the Valley of Lautern".

After the appearance of finishing mills, mining rights opened in more districts: Burgstall in Aalen, Rothenstich in Grauleshof, and the districts of the Cloister at Königsbronn.

The smelting which followed in Königsbronn took such an upswing that in 1479 a water-powered iron forge was built in Itzelberg and in 1576 a furnace and rolling mill, offshoots of the Königsbronner works.

In about 1540 furnaces were constructed in Unterkochen and Oberkochen whose products were finished in Heidenheim and Mergelstetten.

During the 30 year war, these works in Königsbronn, Unterkochen and Oberkochen were completely destroyed, but by about 1650 bells and cannons were again being made. The Oberkochen factory was never rebuilt.

In the succeeding centuries the remaining factories increased greatly in importance and in 1885 to 1890 the Itzelberg forge and rolling mill was established. The Königsbronn blast furnace was demolished in 1905 and now only the foundry continues to operate.

At Essingen iron ore was being mined in the neighborhood of Weiherhaus, and in addition there was an iron pit near Hohroden (Toneisenstein).

In the year 1511 Appolonia von Wellwart, her brother-in-law Reinhard von Wellwart and 5 additional colleagues formed a corporation for the construction of a furnace for a mill on the Rems which appeared a suitable place. The crude iron was smelted at a forge at Leinroden. Although ore was smelted from 1520 to 1537 the undertaking did not make good progress and the lease was cancelled as soon as possible.

The search for iron ore continued to be the chief concern of the Wellwarts. In the year 1530, the Count Ottingen granted them privileges to search for and mine ore between Unterkochen or Aulen and Wasseralfingen. The discovery of the brown iron ore layer at Attenhofen through mining efforts by the Wellwarts in the manors of Röthenberg and Röthard in the year 1608 established the basis for the later development of the iron industry in our area.

Sigismund von Wellwart was seeking for business at the same time that the ruler of Ellwangen discovered ore to smelt, yet they did not meet. Instead ruler Johann Christof attempted to manage the iron production independently. About 1605 he attempted to purchase or exchange the inconvenient factories at Unter- and Oberkochen and finally in 1614 succeeded in bartering the conveyance of Eichstadt. The ruler finally paid about 55,000 Gulden for ownership of both factories. Immediately after ore was found in Attenhofen, an extension of this layer was also discovered by the owners seeking ore in Oberalfingen on the Waidt and in Wasseralfingen under the Rainen. The ore from Oberalfingen was quickly used in the Abstgmünd smelter which in the year 1622 was probably the first oven, with a purchase price of 21,866 Gulden. The ore mining however was soon discontinued for these "ores" proved useless. Probably a dark-colored red marl sandstone was taken for iron-bearing clay.

The Wasseralfingen ore was sought in 1619 for the ovens of Unter- and Oberkochen. The transport way passed through the Ottinger district thus raising the cost of the transport by tolls levied by the obstructive power of the Ottinger.

The toll costs for iron ore, coal and iron transport finally brought about the erection of a furnace on the site at which the greatest yield of ore was to be found.

At the exit of Hirschklinge, at the boundary of Wasseralfingen, construction of a furnace was begun in 1668. After three years the building was completed and on Feb.17, 1671 at 6 AM, the first Wasseralfingen iron flowed yielding exactly 1314 lb. The standing blast furnace in Abstgmünd-Altschmiede was changed into a forge in 1667 and later, because of better water supply, was moved in 1698-99 to Neuschmiede.

The output at the Unterkochen furnace fell, and it was eventually demolished in 1678. In its place a foundry was erected that later was changed to a rolling mill. With that rests the Wasseralfingen blast furnace as an example of the pigiron supplier to the developing iron industry.

After Wasseralfingen's first year of production the inventory in 1670/71 was:

4524 hundred wt blocks of iron (pig iron)
48 hundred wt castings, ovens sheets, weights

In 1770: 11,764 hundred wt total

By the year 1811 in the Wasseralfingen to Württemberg district there was a steep increase in output of the main foundries and in 1832 produced about 80-90,000 hundredwt of iron.

The foundries were not the only metal-working industry but others followed the iron production and development of the iron working industry. So the overall picture appears in 1854:

2 wire mills with 23 workers.
8 iron and sheet metal works with 58 men & 5 women workers.
2 machine works with 18 workers.

Together with the 572 men and 10 women workers of the four iron works were also 686 laborers in the metal industries in the old Aalen district in 1852.

As a supplier to the iron industry, charcoal-making in our district should not be ignored. For these many centuries the great rich forests were taken for granted so "coal" production was practiced. The first charcoal kiln probably stood and smoked in the Härtsfeld wooded district. One of the many charcoal kilns still smoked there in 1974 being operated by the charcoal Wengert family in Grosskuchen. The erection of charcoal kilns in 1611 made possible the introduction of the Abstgmünd furnaces in that district. The 19th century witnessed the tracing of the so-called coal street from Wasseralfingen to Abstgmünd by supplies of charcoal from other districts.

A large charcoal factory was built in 1842 with approximately 30-40 kilns erected on the Blinden Roth in the so-called Rechenhölzle. The stream made its own narrow way navigable so that without special effort the necessary wood could be transported. The Königl. furnaces in Kocher and Brentzal needed about 200,000 Zuber of charcoal.

(1 Zuber = approx 75 liters)

In 1508, the province of Ellwangen had a glass factory and in 1612 a papermill was operated in Unterkochen. The glass factory was closed in the next century, about 1660, but the paper mill still operates in Unterkochen. In the year 1850 there was 1 paper mill in existence with 14 men and 22 women workers.

This process of industrialization continued into the future and today is still not completed. With this industrial expansion living by a trade begins, agriculture draws to a close and the standard of living gradually increases.

Our Abstgmünder Harsch relatives were affected by this industrialization relatively late, and so we first find in generation VII ca1850, occupations such as forge-man, factory worker, puddler, iron-foundry worker, iron-turner, locksmith, stoker, and smelter.

These early industrial workers were naturally drawn to or moved by their trades to the places of work. We find such dwelling places as Königsbronn, Wasseralfingen and Zuffenhausen.

We notice that the principal relations of the Joseph and Melchior families are found following their employment in industry and are still living there today. In the last generation we find technologists, iron-turners, managers, architects, master machinist, wholesaler, engineer, industrial buyers etc. Except for a few other places, the chief dwelling place for the Melchior kindred is Wasseralfingen, and Königsbronn for the Joseph kindred. A similar, time-related, change of occupation we find in other related ancestors.

Descendants of the farmer and ancestor George found their business in trade and became cartwright, joiner and shoemaker. By the following generations additional professions were chosen as the tradition was continued. So appeared now the callings of grocer, mason, master mason, mason-foreman, contractor, carpenter, master cabinet-maker. In the last generation appeared buyer, social worker, officer, surveyor, civil servant and tutor. Covering as wide a spectrum as the previously mentioned types of employment are also the dwelling places, namely: Rattstadt, Dewangen, Treppach, Bühlerzell, Stödtlen, Niederalfingen, Hüttlingen, Esslingen, Ulm, Wasseralfingen, Deizesau, Augsburg, Aalen, Lörrach etc.

Just as different as the George ancestors are the occupations of Bernhard kindred. The descendants of the cartwright and forefather Bernhard became mason, basket-maker, iron-caster, stoker, contractor, plasterer, buyer, civil servant, architect, foreman, tool-maker. Almost every dwelling-place is found here in Aalen, near earlier homesites as Rodamsdörfle, Abstgmünd, Wasseralfingen and Cannstatt.

Among the descendants of the cartwright Alois-kindred we find related lines which live today in our family dwelling place Abstgmünd. One can speak further of a broader tradition since the calling of cartwright is found in generation I by Michael 1630-1707, so it is found in generation IX.

This almost 300 year tradition is itself a curiosity, and springs from a deep-rooted feeling for home and for occupation which could only rarely be stopped or changed. As in the case of the other ancestors, the present day generations have other occupations as recorded in the death lists. From the last cartwright are: farmer, master butcher, husbandman, baker, mechanic, buyer.

The three ancestors, Joseph, Bernhard, and Alois have established for their humble posterity a small gathering of occupations and dwelling places.

The Xaver-kindred was still a genuine peasant family in generation I. More than four generations inherited the peasant status in such places as Abstgmünd, Brachwang, Bühlerzell, Holzleuthen.

In Abstgmünd and in Brackwang there were no male descendants, so that the name Harsch was not continued. The family left the peasant class in Bühlerzell and in Holzleuthen and in the following generations therefore there appeared baker, coachman, beer brewer, smith, tavern keeper, engine fitter, railway official, cabinet maker, government secretary, bank teller, technologist, teacher, mason, magistrate.

The Xaver-Xaver branch with his descendants in generation VII appear exclusively in Switzerland while the descendants of the Brackwang peasant's son George came from Holzleuthen to Eislingen.

Harsches and Harsch descendants in Church Service

In our Abstgmünd family we find relatives who were in the service of the church.

In the George family, Anton Harsch, born March 21, 1861 in Stödtlen, seventh child of Kaspar Harsch from Wöllstein, was ordained as a priest in Rottenburg on July 22, 1885. He was the last city priest in Bopfingen and died there Nov. 12, 1914.

In the same family but a generation later the first child of Kaspar Harsch (born 1853 in Stödtlen), Maria Klara Harsch, born Dec.11, 1883 in Stödtlen, was ordained a nun by profession in Heiligebronn May 5, 1904 as Sister Jmalda. She died there on Aug. 21, 1937.

The sisters, Albertina, born Jan 8, 1894 and Emilie, born Apr 10, 1897 and Antonie Josephine, born Oct 16, 1898 chose the identical way. They were daughters of Bernhard Harsch, born 1859 in Stödtlen. They took their vows in 1925, 1926, and 1925 and were teaching sisters of the Franciscan Cloister at Saulgau.

Recognized not only as a member of the clergy but also as a scholar of his country and genealogist was Dr.h.c. Friedrich Maria Laun, born June 6, 1860 in Wasseralfingen, the 1st child of the marriage of Christian Friedrich Laun from Unterkochen and his wife Franziska, born Harsch, daughter of the Melchior-family from Abstgmünd. As author of the so-called "Laun's Manuscript", a work of over 1000 pages, he created an important work for homeland and genealogy. Based on church works, the work brought profit, honor, and recognition to the doctor. At the end he worked as dean of the cathedral in Rottenburg where he died on March 3, 1916.

Maria Harsch, born July 23, 1873 in Abstgmünd, daughter of Joh. George Harsch from Abstgmünd, took her vows Nov.19, 1903 in the French order of sisters in the cloister at Marchtal.

An additional member of the Melchior family is one in the Sontheim/Brenz area at this time. Pastor Paul Hauber, born Nov 7, 1935 in Wasseralfingen, son of the marriage of Victor Hauber from Wasseralfingen and his wife Maria, born Hänle, a daughter of Katharina Hänle, born Harsch May 29, 1881 in Wasseralfingen.

Emigrants to America--Canada--Switzerland

About 1850 or later 19 individuals or families of our Abstgmünd group have left their homeland. While no traces of the first 8 emigrants can now be discovered, the later generations always remained in contact with their old home or could be contacted at intervals.

The usual motive for emigration to a particular place was that an earlier emigrant had chosen it and prospered. For those whose whereabouts are still unknown to us, we can only hope that they keep their courage and perseverance, adaptation and tolerance, and keep their health for a fortunate relocation in the new homeland. All 8 emigrants or families went to America.

I was especially pleased to find a contact for the descendants of Harsches who emigrated to Switzerland, the Xaver family. The four siblings, Josef, Maria, Xaver and George Harsch moved to Switzerland and married in Zurich and Winterthur between 1880 and 1900. The records of the descendants of Xaver Harsch are nearly complete to the present day. This success is due not only from the "Musterländle" known generally to the Swiss, but from the cooperation of each person, and especially to Fritz Harsch of Zürich.

Although two additional USA emigrants of the Xaver family and also the Eislingen line were found, to date no answers have been received.

As a novelty we note the discovery of an ancestor "who moved to Prussia", Otto Harsch, born 1858 in Wasseralfingen. Otto Harsch later lived in Rheydt, Prussia, after he was married in 1883 in Burbach (Saarbrucken). The oldest of his six sons, Eugen Harsch, born 1884, was now a true emigrant; after he was marriage in 1905, he moved in the year 1923 with his wife and 17 year old son to USA, where he continued until his death the practice of Homeopathic Medicine. After a four year interval, the young Otto Maria Harsch returned to school in Germany, to study Dentistry, then married and established a home. Dr. Otto Harsch appears as an immigrant together with his family and the descendants of his uncle Wilhelm Harsch, as the Harsches of the Westfall area.

Mrs. Helga Liardon, born 1938, the youngest and probably sole emigrant to Canada is a daughter of Paul Harsch, who was born 1902 in Wasseralfingen and now lives in Aalen, a descendant of the Bernhard family.

3.1.3 Harsches in Dewangen
Dewangen in Welland

Welland, especially the area around Dewangen does not appear to have been settled until the end of the 8th century, in contrast to the neighboring countryside of the Lein, Kocher, and Rems valleys. In these areas traces of mines, colonization, tools etc are missing.

There are no ancient ancestral villages in Dewangen as found in other areas such as Hüttlingen, Heuchlingen, Schechingen, Wasseralfingen, and others.

At this time there are merely traces of an ancient place, which lies on the hills between the Lein and Rems valleys, today still visible and known under the name "Hochstrasse". As observed from "Burstel" at Treppach, there stands the recently-pressed and gold 4-cornered sign with the name Wasseralfingen.

The Romans left behind no traces of settlement, but with the remains of the devil's wall, we are reminded of their former presence. No colonization was tolerated in a broad band adjacent to the Roman boundary. The boundary traces extend inconspicuously south from today's Dewangen where no settlement would have been possible at the time of the Roman occupation. From the north to south the Alemanni pushed forward with the Suevi (later Schwabians) and overran the boundary traces in the 3rd century AD. They also settled in our district about 250 AD being drawn to the fruitful valleys and slopes and then by the need for pasture lands. The great uncultivated and wooded flat plains of the Welland district frontier were the engulfing bond of kinship, and were considered common property.

With increasing growth, the population probably named their ancient villages after the oldest kin, as Heuchlingen (after Huchilo), Hüttlingen (after Huttilo), Wasseralfingen (after Ahiolf), and gradually moved into little fertile areas, and also into field and woodlands.

Places and flower names are found and preserved today, such as Trübenreute, Leinroden, Rodamsdörfle, Rotfeld, etc. The process continues until today, brought about through better farming and improved agriculture from the early Schwabian settlement to the time of the great French empire.

During the 7th and 8th centuries the monks settled and founded Cloisters, the largest part of the fields were cleared and the people Christianized. (Cloister Ellwangen about 760, Schwäbische Gmünd about 777)

From the time of the ruler Karl the Great (768-814) until the beginning of the 12th century, the population increased slowly but steadily. The new settlers, not qualified to inherit as peasants' sons, were granted the more distant arable fields and woodlands. For the first time with extensive clearing, the boundaries became traceable, especially in Schwabia and France.

The introduction of three-field rotation, then the most efficient method of cultivation by the cooperative village unions, improved the agrarian technique and the yield and led to surplus production. Formation and establishment of trades and the founding of cities followed.

In the 12th and 13th centuries the population increase accelerated and at the time of the Emperor Staufer the Schwäbian city Gmünd was founded by 1162.

The Schwabian kingdom, through the systematic creation of fortified places, the erection of strongholds, the building of stronger, walled estates (of knights), and the establishment of cities in the middle of the 13th century became a land of town- and city-states.

With the last Staufer Konradin, who died in 1268 on the scaffold in Naples, the Schwabian duchy was extinguished and disintegrated. It formed into numerous self-governing territories: of the nobility, the gentry (knighthood), the bishopric, monastery, cloister, order of knights (German order of the St. John the hospitaler) and the imperial city. In this period also occurred the first documentation of the naming of Dewangen, which was recognized in the fief books of the province of Ellwangen reaching back to 1367.

Earlier, namely in 1283, a farm of Konrad in Bernardsdorf and his possessions in Raven were known as part of a field in the valley of the Laubbach. Until the 19th century, Dewangen was under the influence of the cloister of Ellwangen and Swabian Gmünd. In 1414 the parish of Dewangen was included in the appurtenances of the Holy Ghost hospitals, over which the city had supreme power.

Gmünd lay then in the district of the diocese of Augsburg. The city itself and a part of its possessions belonged to the Chapter Lorch and the other part, now under Dewangen, belonged to the Chapter Iggingen which appear to have been united in 1592.

The end of the duchy of Swabia not only altered the political situation, but also made an underlying change in personal position, especially of the landed peasants. The first free farmers, who obtained their freedom and their property by colonization centuries before, now lost both again.

This is set forth in the accounting of purchases and gifts in the later property books of Dewangen. The remainder of the dominion holdings in the Dewanger district may be found in the title which the church bought or was granted in the 14th and early 15th century, for estate property could not be bought or given away by the peasants.

The Harsches in Dewangen

We have already pointed out that the earliest record of the Harsch family in the eastern district was in Dewangen. As early as 1401 a "Harsch place" was known, with an estate that in 1403 went from Wilhelm Heberling in Gmünd to Konrad Adelman and was 1/2 hide in size. From 1429 or 1444 the history of a larger estate continued, so that for over 1 1/2 centuries the Harsch name was carried on. This history may be seen in the "Laun Manuscripts". The last holder of this estate property was one Michel Harsch (mentioned in the year 1592 in a deed), who left a widow Anna whose death was noted in 1621. After that the property came to Baltes Rettenmaier from Dewangen. Since the property was conveyed to another family we may presume that there were no male heirs or descendants and that in the year 1618 B. Rettenmaier was probably the son-in-law of the widow Anna Harsch.

It is also possible that the male heirs turned from farming to other occupations. The christening register in the church books of Dewangen begins in 1610 and these records improve our knowledge of the family.

The size of an estate is designated as follows and recorded in the hospital stock book; for it was to the church "Our dear wife in Tenwangen" was obliged to pay rent. In the year 1550, the estate was in the possession of Hanns Harsch, surveyor, and stood as follows:

1 house and 2 gardens
on the Wieser:2 Tagwerk=65.2 acres on the Acker:11 3/4 Jauchert = 583.4 acres divided into 3 fields

In the same stock book, an additional Hanns Harsch is mentioned, with:

1 house and 1 garden
2 Tagwerk meadow
(Perhaps he was working for his father?)

In addition it was recorded:

"Lenhart Harsch of Tenwangen gives truly to our wife 1 Tagwerk at Rompach, lying between the manors of Aulen and Gueter, he has sold to Aulen for 16 sh. (with the boundaries marked)".

The following is an abstract of the "Laun Manuscript", in which the many changes in ownership of the previously mentioned property between Harsches appear.

"The flax field formerly owned by Eberhard von Treppach became the properrty of Bernhard Vener in 1408, and in 1411 Heinrich Vickel was representative of Elsbeth Vener and her three daughters, Else, Katharina, and Margaretta. In their name he sold the property in 14?6 to Heinrich Traub of Dewangen. Elsbeth Vener was the widow of Bernhard and the daughter of Eberhard Vogt from Treppach and as such had inherited the flax field. In 1429 it was recorded as 'purchased from Vogt of Treppach' by Konrad Traub, Heinrich's true son.

"In 1444 the property of Konrad Traub passed to his heir, his grandson Kunz Harsch, the brick maker from Himmlingen. Then in 1448 'Cunz Harsch petitioned my lord (of Ellwangen), that he be allowed to pledge the previously described property to Weberlin for 30 Gulden principal and 2 Gulden ground rent for three years under registered mortgage' and this was allowed him.

"In 1463 the same Kunz Harsch owned this property but in 1474 Hans Harsch from Himmlingen and Hans Harsch the younger bought it, and in 1492 the Konrad Harsch appeared as petitioner. In 1499 it was Hans Harsch in the name of his mother Elsbeth, widow of Hans Harsch.

"In the year 1522 Hans Harsch received the property for himself and declared on his oath that it consisted of the following property:

Of fields:	2 morgen in Staffelbach
	2 morgen in Laachacker
	1 morgen on the Filsberg
	2 beet in Lederäcker
	1 beet in Heuerbach
	4 beet in Winteräckerlin
	1 beet in Strichacker
	4 beet in Steinhalden
	2 beet on Massalter (1574 Moshalde)
	2 beet in Laachgang
	1 gern on the Rot in Lachgang
	2 juchard on the Rot
	3 beet by the Morwiese
Of meadows:	1 fleck on the Stritt (1574:Streit)
	4 Tagwerk on the Hofwiess
	1 grass garden at Tenwangen

"In the year 1537 this piece of property was again transferred to Hans Harsch the younger as petitioner for his mother Anna, widow of Hans Harsch the elder. It was valued at 60 Gulden and a renewable fee of 6 Gulden established.

"In 1556 the property was divided and Hans Harsch received 4/6, then somewhat later still another sixth, Leinhard Harsch of Leinroden received 1/6.

"The 5/6 portion of Hans Harsch was distributed after his death in 1574 into 2 unequal parts. To Michel Harsch a part worth 45 Gulden, to Hans Schreiber in Hütten, his brother-in-law, a part worth 60 Gulden. Michel Harsch soon acquired the latter as his property.

"The 1/6 portion of Leinhard Harsch in the meantime fell to Hans Beiser in Dewangen, in 1584 to his widow, born Harsch, and from her to her sister Appolonia Harsch, lawful wife of Stefan Ziegler of DeWangen.

"In 1592 Bartholomäus Aubelin in Dinkelsbühl inherited it from Appolonia, his mother's sister, and sold it at once to Michel Harsch. The property was appraised by the assessor in 1584 at 130 Gulden, in 1592 at 180 Gulden.

"Thus Michel Harsch combined the property in its entire original boundaries and passed it on to his widow Anna, for whom Wolf Stitzlin of Tenwangen took charge at first, then in 1618 her son-in-law Balthes Rettenmaier, himself a prudent advisor.

"On Oct 16, 1621, after the death of Anna Harsch, the property was now appraised at 600 Gulden and succeeded to Balthes Rettenmaier and Anna, the orphaned daughter of Claus Opferkuch. Later he bought her portion on Oct 30, 1621 for 180 Gulden."

Over the following generations, succession by inheritance reached an end. Aside from these known Harsch-name-bearers, still more Harsches were settled in this period in Dewangen, and from there have also established themselves in other regions but with one exception, additional proof is missing.

In conclusion we can establish that the Dewangen Harsches to which the earliest families belonged, were living in Dewangen from the 15th to 17th centuries until the time just before the 30 years war, 1618-1648, at which time the following families were still dwelling in Dewangen:

Abele, Auchter, Borst, Bäuerle, Bader, Betzler, Ebhardt (Ebert), Bux, Gentner, Grimminger, Elsar, Hirschmüller, Handor, Huter, Steeb, Frey, Ilg, Keller, Miller, Mayer, Riegger, Rieckh, Klingenmayer, Rettenmayer, Rathgebed, Beisswenger, Frankh, Higler, Esswein, Mack, Schiele, Holl, Kurtz, Hauber, Seibold, Seutz, Scherer, Ulmer, Klopfer, Zeller, Opferkuch and others.

3.1.4 Heuchlingen Harsch/Härsch

The Heuchlingen church-register records which were begun by 1592 brought to light many early facts about Harsch ancestors and in Abstgmünd with the beginning of the church records in 1664.

The utilization of the church register of Heuchlingen for 1592-1643 and 1687-1716 brought only scattered information to the Harsch search for ancestors.

These fragments are interesting to some extent, for possibly they may be established as the missing link between the Dewangen and the Abstgmünd Harsches. A relationship to the Leinroden Harsches is likewise as plausible as a relationship to other families or branches in the eastern district generally.

The first mentioned Harsch name-bearer was Joannes Harsch, guardian of the horn, referred to as witness to a marriage in the year 1593.

In the year 1596 Hanns Härsch, farmer, served as godfather.

In the year 1599 Hanns Härsch, farmer, appears as witness to a marriage in which the bridegroom is called Petrus Härsch, probably his son.

In the same year, 1599, Friderich Haffner has become guardian of the horn. Possibly the first named Joannes, sometime around 1596, has given up his office as guardian and then returned as farmer to Riedhof.

In 1601, Petrus Härsch was in the christening entry for his daughter and called 'farmer from the Ried'. He lived in Riedhof on a hill toward Schechingen in a house built before 1577 by Arnold von Wolfen.

In 1669 Michael Harsch, son of Petrus H. from the Riedhof, married into the Fischer family. The Fischers still live today at Riedhof.

In Heuchlingen we find additional Harsches:

Jacob Härsch, married in the year 1603, was known as townsman and shopkeeper. Had five children.

Jerg Härsch, married in the year 1607 to Maria Geiger from Essigen. The family probably moved to Essigen, since the children are not recorded in Heuchlingen.

Adam Harsch, married in the year 1707 (probably his 3rd wife). Had 7 children.

An additional connection between the Heuchlingen and Abstgmünd Harsches appears to have existed, for on a birth registry of June 18, 1644, Melchior Harsch of Abstgmünd was named as a god-father. This Melchior Harsch, wage earner in Abstgmünd, was named on the register of inhabitants. Perhaps it was the uncle of the baptized infant Johannes?

3.1.5 Leinroden Family

This family of Harsch/Harrsch is doubtless the most widely investigated, and also the best known family of Harsches in Southern Germany, thanks to over 80 long years of successful research work by Ludwig F. Harrsch, chief district managistrate, a.D. (ausser Dienst-military abbreviation for retired at half-pay-CHH); this family is based on the line of the Count over several continuous generations.

Ludwig F. Harrsch celebrated his 97th birthday this year and at this time lives in Oberteuringen, Bodenseegebiet.
(He died Sept 21, 1979 in his 102nd year.)

L.F.Harrsch has gathered a large amount of material in his lifetime about his family line and a very comprehensive record has been developed.

Some documents of these records are in our possession as photocopies, and have contributed substantially to the success of this paper.

To him and to his work, heartiest thanks for everything many times over!

Some records are present about the Harsch/Harrsch from Leinroden which it is advisable to study. Although today the descendants of the Leinroder Harrsches no longer live in the area, we still find trace of them in our immediate vicinity.

For example: There are 3 tombstones with the name Harrsch at the Leinroden Friedhof Church. In the interior of the church (tomb) of Jacob Harrsch, 1580-1635, school master and district regent in Leinroden, and his lawfully wedded wife Maria, born Mertz, with coats of arms of both families.

On the outside wall 2 memorial tablets, one of Jacob Gotthardt Harrsch, 1638-1707, and one of Christoph Sigmund Harrsch, 1715-1784. An additional epitaph, with arms of Sattler and Harrsch families, and a Latin inscription, are found in the church in Neubronn. It is inscribed as the first wife of the bailiff and schoolmaster, Hans Jorg Harrsch, Frau Walburga Sattler, died 1639.

Freiburg in Breisgau: On the north wall of the Böcklin chapel of Freiburg Münster is a memorial tablet with picture and Latin inscription, which commemorates the noble line, Count Ferdinand Amadeus von Harrsch. Moreover, he is buried there.

We are also reminded of the 'National Count Road' (Reichsgrafenstrasse)in the famous Schwabian Eastern Alps.

The spelling of the family name today shows 2-Rs. In the first generations the name was still written with one R. Of these changes, L.F.Harrsch writes as follows:

"In a literary feud between Franziscus Harsch from Überling and Pastor Johann Martin Harsch of Neubronn, the Überling namesake contended that he and his family, descended from the island of Reichenau, alone in the world have the right to control the name of Harsch. For outward identifiable distinction, Joh. Martin Harsch now presumably took the new spelling Harrsch for himself and his sister.

3.1.6 Individual Harsches in Various Places In and Around the Eastern Alps District

Brackwang In the year 1477 on Nov 14, Ludwig Harsch and others inherited a house with garden at Unterböbingen in Breckwang and received this property as a fief. 350 years later, namely from 1815-1874, again there was a Harsch at Brackwang, and indeed a member of the Xaver-descendants of the Abstgmünder Harsch (see Brackwang-Chronicle)

Dickersbronn (at Dinkelsbühl) On Feb 17, 1398, Hermann von Dalkingen sold to Sitz Harsch of Dieggersbrunn a small property at Dieggersbrunn.

Fachsenfeld In a record of Apr 21, 1490 is read: 'Ulrich von Wöllwarth the older, of Leinroden, sold to the prior and Convent of the Order of St. Augustine at Gmünd 6 malter of corn for 100 Gulden from his property at Fachsenfeld, built by Ulrich Hars.'

Schwabian Gmünd. On Mar 20, 1682, Hans Harsch, farrier, was mentioned on the occasion of a house exchange. The same Hans Harsch was named with Johannes on July 25, 1689. On June 24, 1690 Hans Harsch's house is referred to on the occasion of a promissory note transfer. The house is by the old city wall at the grain scales.

Reichenbach On Sept 30, 1443 the Gmünd hospital assigned an endowment of property and in addition a small tithe of possession as guarantee, which, among others, 'the Harsch built'.

Unterbettringen In the year 1549, Ulrich Harsch made a meadow exchange. In the year 1591, Michel Harsch was named on the occasion of a field exchange.

3.2 Stuttgart and Neckar Area

3.2.1 Erligheim-Mundelsheimer Family

The forefather of this previously studied family was called Ulrich Harsch, who died in Erligheim in 1627, probably working late in life as a bailiff. In this capacity (court messenger) he was in the service of his master, the Baron von Wöllwarth.

Rennwart von Wöllwarth who died in 1492, acquired with others a part of Erligheim during the rule of Count Eberhard im Barte (1445-1496) At this time Count Eberhard consented to sponsor a systematic development of moderate administration, and to draw the ranks into the government. So, for example, Rennwart von Wöllwarth was 'Wirttemberg steward and counsel' and it is entirely possible that he had retained for assistance in administration the vassal from his family dominion, to which, among others, Fachsenfeld belonged, as well as Erligheim.

Since Ulrich Hars possessed property at Fachsenfeld in 1490 according to the Catholic church books at Villigen, it is likely that he or his descendants came to Erligheim and thus were the founders who later would establish the Harsch family in Mundelsheim.

It is possible, therefore that there is a connection with the family of Harsches of the Eastern Alps, if the Mundelsheimer forefather Ulrich was indeed in the service of the Baron von Wöllwarth as the schoolmaster, bailiff and pastor Harsch in the district of Abstgmünd.

Comprehensive research material already exists about this family, with an original circular family 'tree' of about 1 meter diameter with approximately 800 descendants.

As representative of the Mundelsheim Harsches in our own district, we know technical school advisor Karl Harsch, a D, of Aalen, an enthusiastic co-worker on Harsch research in general.

3.2.2 Faurndau/Göppingen

Since at least 1523, Harsch name-bearers have lived there in unbroken succession. The first Harsch is found in the stock book of the wine cellar at Göppingen in the year's vintage 1477 and later. In the recruitment list of 1536, Jerg Hans Harsch, Lancer, is recorded. On the Turkish assessment list of 1545, Jacob Hars appeared who was taxed 3 batz (a small silver coin).

In the year 1587 Hans Harsch of Faurndau was named, who was in Gmünd jail because of false testimony and swore an oath to keep the peace for his release.

Ludwig F. Harrsch has assembled a short line of descent of the Faurndau Harsches, most of whom were potters.

Some named Harsch from Faurndau have settled in Neuenbürg (southwestern Pforzheim). In the recruiting list of 1603 Jacob Harsch was entered as 'musketeer'.

An additional branch of the Faurndau Harsches emerged at Güglingen (western Lauffen/Neckar) through migration. In the year 1683 Leonhard Harsch, potter, was named. His father, likewise Leonhard, came from Faurndau. The last in the line of descent (by L. F. Harrsch) is called Theodor Gottlieb, and was born on Nov 6, 1909 in Stuttgart-Gablenberg.

3.2.3 Nürtingen

Since 1523 people named Harsch lived here. The ancestor came from near Neckartailfingen. In addition, in Kleinbettlingen, Zitzishausen, Neckartailfingen and Raidwangen some members of the Harsch family are settled. It must be assumed by the proximity of these places that all these families belong to the same family line.

3.2.4 Stuttgart and Vicinity

Stuttgart In 1534 Benz Harsch was referred to as a townsman in Stuttgart. Martin Harsch, chancery clerk of Eberhard the Older, Count of Württemberg (Eberhard V, or 'im Barte'), received on the eve of St. Mary Magdalene's Day in the year 1490 a deed of transfer of property written out by his Count. The same Martin Harsch was authorized to sit on council in 1498, also 1504-1511, and 1500-1503, 1510, 1512-1513, 1517, 1528.

In the year 1542 Gall Harsch was mentioned, as well as Hans Harsch in Ruit.

In more recent times in Stuttgart a large number of the Harsch family live, who are traceable to diverse family lines.

Esslingen In the Württemberg servant book a Harsch was cited in 1488 in Esslingen. In the 17th century more Harsches lived there, who belonged to different families and are not from the same roots.

Denkendorf On a recruitment list in 1523 Heinz Harsch was named. Later the Denkendorf branch has spread far, to Riedenberg, Esslingen, Cannstatt, Stuttgart, even to Bucharest in Rumania, America and southern Russia.

In a line of descent by L. F. Harrsch, the last one of the name mentioned was Reinhold Richard Harsch born June 18, 1916 in Stuttgart.

3.2.5 Vaihingen/Fildern

Since 1546 the Vaihingen Harsches were already in evidence. On July 5, the mayor of the village of Vaihingen issued a personal document to the young Hans Harsch, whose parents lived in Vaihingen.

In the year 1662, Hans Harsch, potter, known therefore as 'Potting Hans', was embroiled in the great witchcraft trials (1662-1665) and burned alive.

Another line of descent, likewise set out by L. F. Harrsch, begins about 1700 and includes 43 descendants, the last being Johann Jacob Harsch, the grandfather of Adolph Harsch, living in Böblingen at the present time.

Many of the Vaihingen Harsches emigrated to America in the middle of the 19th century; in addition they lived in Möhringen, Waiblingen, Willsbach, Ulm, Heslach and other places. Most appear to have followed the trade of artisan but one does find Hans Harsch, who was appointed judge in 1708.

3.3 Remaining Southern Germany Area

3.3.1 Breisgauer Harsch, later 'from Reuthe and Holzhausen'

The brothers Andreas, Konrad, and Michael Harsch, a middle class family of the city of Freiburg, received a coat of arms patent dated Freiburg, July 21, 1578 from the Palatine Count Wilhelm Boecklin von Boecklinsau, Cathedral Prior at Magdeburg.

Afterwards, in 1612, the previously mentioned champion Konrad acquired from Andreas the estates of Holzhausen and Ober- and Nieder-Reuthe by Freiburg; and by 1626 he had established a family entailment (an unsaleable and indivisible family estate), his descendants recorded for these properties, and tacitly entered into nobility without ever being granted a patent of the noble state, leading the last generation even to the title of Baron. (Freiherrl. Tauschbuch, 1857) In 1639 the son of Konrad, Hans Georg Harsch, was already clearly included in the old knights and titled group of town-dwellers.

The family, whose members later were in Austrian service as officers, died out in the 1860's. In the genealogic literature suitable accounts and family trees are available about these families.

Dr. P. Edel, Aalen, presented to our family archives a photocopy of a record from the beginning of the Austrian rule, dated Apr 17, 1752, in which Franz Ignatius von Harsch of Holzhausen requested for his son Joseph Thaddäus a post as officer in the Austrian regiment.

3.3.2 Brettener Harsches

Presumably early in the year 1601 Peter Harsch (Harst, Harhs) immigrated from Erminting (susequently Ermingen on the Ulm or Dürmentingen on the Riedlingen) to Bretten on the Danube and since has established a flourishing line there. The family has spread out vigorously and today numerous members of this branch live in esteemed social position, especially in North and Middle Baden.

3.3.3 Heilbronner Harsches

The Harsches (also written Harsche) of Heilbron were mentioned for the first time in the year 1335 as a patrician family (belonging to a town family fully authorized for election to the town council). In this year Heinrich Harsch is a townsman at Heilbronn, has an estate at Biberach and pays tithes at Böckingen. Hans Harsch, brother-in-law of Werner from Crailsheim, in 1410 was enfeoffed at Worms, with tithes paid at home on the Zaber.

3.3.4 Reichener and Eberlinger Harsches

As Canon at St. Jergen on the Reichenau Island, Johannes Harsch lived in 1461, known as a "Bachelor" in 7 liberal arts. In this year he was sealed with a coat-of-arms under a charter, and L. F. Harrsch found a plaster cast of it in the family archives. In the year 1518 Hans Harsch and Bartholomä Harsch paid a tribute to St. Johann.

In the year 1666 the Canon Franziskus Harsch carried on a literary feud with Pastor John Martin Harsch in Neubronn, as a result of which the Leinroden Harsch were from this time on Harrsch, written with 2 Rs. As a result the family seat of Harsch appears to have been in Reichenau.

L. F. Harrsch has established the existence of carriers of the name Harsch in Uberlinger from a list taken from the city archives.

In the year 1450 Hans Harsch was named 'spillwaytender'.

In the period until 1750 various Harsches appeared as dyer, clergy, furrier, townsman, salt worker, and later a 'Master Johann Harsch', who founded the line from Reichenau.

In the year 1692 Hans Jacob Harsch, widower, married Rosina Freyin of Ringingen.

3.3.5 Various Places

Since 1589 the name Harsch is evident in the Catholic church books at Villigen. In the middle of the 18th century, however, the name again faded away. In 1632, a Harsch is entered (in the book), but he has no connection with the previous Harsches.

A short line of descent of this Harsch begins with Johannes Harsch, married in the year 1589, and ends with an entry in the death register in the year 1747, when Anna Maria Harsch died.

Schwarzbach (Bühl/Baden)

The existence of two Catholic families (named Harsch) there from 1639 to 1788 has been proved. The family appears to be lost at this time. Ludwig F. Harrsch has assembled a short line of descent for this group.

Herrischried (in Holtzenwald or Baden, northern Säckingen)

As far as the church records reach back, until 1695, the Harsch name-bearers, all of whom are Catholic, lived uninterruptedly. They were called 'Wendelmänner' (plowmen) and were safely settled there considerably earlier. Many branches of the family flourish today in Hotzenwald, in Neuzeit, and as emigrants to Switzerland and France. A collateral branch lives in Munich.

Reutlingen

As early as 1412, Hans, the old Harsch from Eningen, was mentioned as townsman in Reutlingen. In the 17th century, Harsch again appeared, and it is likely that the Harsches living there today belong to this line.

Heidenheim/Brenz

For a time the family of Mathias Harsch lived in Heidenheim. His great-grandfather Lorenz Harsch hailed from Schäfstall at Donauwörth. Nothing has been discovered about the more distant ancestors. Also the family could be found in no list investigated, for no Lorenz was to be found.

4. Wappen

Coats-of-arms emerged at the time of the crusades in the 11th to 13th centuries and served unknown knights through markings on their arms. As hereditary coats of arms they devolved at once to the knight's families and their estate and served henceforth as family coats-of-arms.

With the decay of chivalry, coats-of-arms were now also taken over by the middle class and the clergy, mostly after grant by nobility.

Today the coats-of-arms have the benefit of legal protection through the coat-of-arms patent. So, for example, the authority for bearing of an older coat-of-arms must be shown by law.

The receipt of a new coat-of-arms is available to everyone today, but they must be genuinely heraldic. Thus through enrollment in the heraldic register an adopted coat-of-arms is sheltered from copy and unauthorized use.

Our Abstgmünd family has had and has until now no official coat-of-arms, yet there exist at least 2 'private' coats-of-arms as well as some designs for a family coat-of-arms.

In the 17th century the Leinroden Harrsches had a coat-of-arms which can be seen today in Leinroden in the church graveyard. The most popular coat-of-arms was the later one of the line of the Count. The first coat-of-arms was granted by the elevation into knighthood through Kaiser Leopold I in the year 1702; the second by the elevation into Imperial Earldom by Kaiser Karl VI to Ferdinand Amadeus Harrsch. Both coats-of-arms include the emblem of the first coat-of-arms.

The following are known:

HARSH GENEALOGICAL DATA

(Also Harsch, Hersh, Hersch, etc.)

Compiled by

Robinson H. Harsh

Collaboration by:

Rev. Harvey E. Harsh
James R. Harsch

This large work was printed in 1944, containing nearly 600 typed pages. Robinson Harold Harsh (E.2-1-4-6-3) lived in Washington D.C., and spent his life searching the U.S. Census, the Archives, and other official repositories. A copy of this work was placed in the Library of Congress; Karl R. Harsh of Canton OH has the copy that was given to the Rev. Harvey Harsh (B.9-4-1-1-1-1); your editors (B.5-3-8-2-1-1) have a copy of another less legible copy. Some of the material included in the work has been used in the compilation of the present volume. There are vast amounts of additional material that cannot be included because of the sheer bulk of the work. Lists of all kinds can be found in this work: import lists, tax lists, church records, legal records, war records (Revolutionary, 1812, and Civil) and U.S. census records from 1790 - 1870. The lists include all names that are phonetically similar to "Harsh", and contain a wealth of material.

Excerpts from several sections of the book follow.

PREFACE

IT is intended that this book will be to you like finding an ancient catchall in the dustymost nook of the attic.

THE more you carefully study its contents all the more clear you will realize the staid order of ye olden times - lifting out the relics as they were deposited long-time-betweens thruout each golden-oak generation.

HERE is gathered in this one place every mark and mention of HARSH that has been found in all the ancient records and documents made available for reference.

THIS is not all there is. Yet, to obtain this little, several hundred volumns have been searched page by page - many offering nothing for the delving, and a few others more than their share. Besides over a half million pages of the U. S. census.

INCLUDING a lookthru of all the old Church documents that so far come to attention. For that is the foundation upon which all the other must be carefully constructed--else it would remain an incoherent jumble.

HARSH
(HERSH - HERSCH - HIRSH - HIRSCH)

The name is based on the German noun HIRSCH. The general definition, expressed for understanding in olden times, was DEER or HART. To Germans, its inference was Forest Ruler, in which regard they held the deer. However, the word, in German, also has quite a number of use-definitions, depending on the inference in the conversation. It is employed to complete the suggestion of Royal birth. It can mean one shorn of spirits. In the form of Der Hirsch it implies one distinguished of ten, similar to the popular expression, "He's one in a hundred!", inferring a rare good fellow or loyal friend. In ancient times, the people called the established robber barons "Der Hirsch". They had a acquired a reputation of the same romantic order attributed to Robin Hood in England. They held forth in forests, robbed the rich merchant caravans, and lavishly attended to the direst wants of the chronically impoverished inhabitants.

The early records clearly indicate that Hirsch was pronounced closely to, and a little softer than Harsch, which carries the same meaning as the English word harsh. Perhaps, for this reason, in later times (meaning several hundred years ago) it was frequently spelled Hersch. That brought it closer to the two words, Harsch and Harsh, as it gradually lost its older distinct application.

Today, nearly everyone assumes that his name as he writes it today came to him down through the centuries just that way, and if he happens to come across that name in a book recounting ancient times, he is inclined to assume that he descends directly from that person. Few assumptions can be further from the facts. The same name appears in different areas, springing up independently. The names were usually acquired from places, trades, occupations, personality, physical defects, individual abilities, etc. The child did not necessarily assume the parent's name, but might acquire his name from his attributes.

It is also important to recognize the freedom that the scribes exercised in the spelling of names. They never asked the man "How do you spell it?" Names were spelled as many different ways as there were scribes, and phonetic spelling was the single rule for all names. Added to the semi-literacy of the scribe, and illiteracy of the speaker, was the language factor, where the early American records were frequently written by an English-speaking person listening with one ear to the immigrant speaking his own German dialect.

Queen Anne had failed to give clear title to the lands to the German farmers who were Kocherthal's followers, and the New Amsterdam Dutch and local British residents found a way to secure the farms for themselves. Hearing of their plight, William Penn invited them to Pennsylvania where they were welcomed, and land was available. By about 1720, most of the Germans had left New York State and sent word back that Pennsylvania was a good place to live. By 1730, Rupp estimates that nearly 15,000 Germans had entered Pennsylvania. With such a large number of German immigrants, the Dutch, English and French, who were already established in Philadelphia, feared that the newcomers would not understand their obligations to their new country. This led to the IMPORT-LAWS, effected ca1727. The Captain of a ship was required to file a list of his "freight" (immigrants) before any landed - a manifest called List "A". It might be a complete list, including children and ages. List "B" was filed upon landing, showing all males over 16 years of age, and heads of families. List "C" was made at the Court House, where all the males were marched to take the Oath. They swore (or affirmed) allegiance to the British King, to the Laws of the Commonwealth of Penn's land, and to abjure the Catholic Faith.

There are many pages of Import Lists included in Robinson Harsh's book. Those above are of the immigrant family in this compilation.

TAX LISTS are an excellent means of discovering where the newcomers settled. By 1932, 67 counties comprised the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In 1682, there were 3 counties (Philadelphia, Chester, Bucks) and the Western territory. To complicate matters, the northern third of Pennsylvania was claimed by Connecticut under a grant from an earlier British monarch; the soutwestern quadrant was claimed by Virginia; a wide strip along the southern portion was claimed by Maryland. The original records may be found in the Archives of any of these other states, in the mother country, or in any of the present day counties.

When William Penn established laws in the province in 1682, he designated as "freemen" all land owners and/or taxpayers. Renters and non-taxpayers were "inmates". Immigrants who paid their own passage could take up 100 Acres of land at 1 penny per acre, being required to cultivate 10 Acres. Bondsmen, freed by their service, could take up 50 Acres of land and must cultivate 20 Acres.

THANK YOU!!

Many people contributed to this work. To the family record-keepers, the county genealogical societies, the fact-collectors everywhere, this volume owes its existence.

Mary Wetzel Harsh provided on-going support throughout the project, researching Harvey's notes to add to the information available, contacting other family members, and maintaining her interest and enthusiasm for this book.

The Carroll County Genealogical Society has collected and printed Gravestone inscriptions for most cemeteries in the county and for some of the Churches. The librarian, Lois Hemming, and Linda Houyouse, Editor of Carroll Cousins were exceptionally helpful and made the library's collection easily available for our research. To the unnamed and hardworking members of the Society, many thanks.
